NAME NEW CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SECRETARY

CITY CONTROLLER, A. L. PORTER, TAKEN BY DEATH

Henry Ford Might Even Make Money Farming, Says Will

(Special To The News)

PITTSBURGH, March 28.—Am here in Pittsburgh but am the only person that didn't come to investigate the coal situation.

Henry Ford is paying $8 a day and having no trouble in his mines. Ain't it funny when it looks like a business can't be run right, he bobs up and shows them it can. I believe that fellow could make a farm pay.

Talk about Andy Mellon's great treasury record. You ought to see his state political one.

He is the only man since Mussolini in Italy that controls both the Republican and Democratic delegations to both conventions. I think he will instruct both delegations for Coolidge.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Floyd A. Nowling of West Washington street comes through with a belated report of damage done by the storm on Monday evening. Lightning damaged the radio in my home, he reports. The cabinet was rather a wreck after the storm.

Spring is not here yet. We have it on the authority of Frank Johnson, out of doors man and game protector of this district. We'll have some little wintry blasts yet, he opines.

Sudden death of City Controller A. L. Porter, at his home last night, was a shock to New Castle citizens. Mr. Porter has been a public official in the role of city controller for some ten years or more, and as such capably and conscientiously carried out his public duties. He record in office was one to be commended.

April 4 is registration day for voters in New Castle. All voters who have changed residence since the last year's registration, or for any other reason must register before the coming primaries will have a chance to be enrolled at that time. The registration officials will be at the polling booths on that date.

Two New Castle men are retiring from long years of efficient service in their lines of work during the next few days, with perfect records. Carmen R. Fullerson, a Pennsylvania engineer, and Leverett Schefenocker, a letter carrier. Both of these men have reached the age of retirement, and come to that point in life with a record of a successful life's work. Doing the job that you are on, efficiently and faithfully, through long years of service is in every way making a record that stands out in the community as the mark of a successful citizen.

Down at the Y. M. C. A. everyone is all hepped up over the coming Zingling's Family Circus, which will play at the Y early in April. As Pa Newc understands it, the circus is an annual event, put on by members of the various classes in the Y. All the boys have been working hard, says Walter E. Kirker, physical director and the result of their efforts will be well worth seeing.

Now and again this office gets news dispatches of the doing of Johnny Kraft, a former member of the News staff, and a former star of the Grove City basketball team. Johnny, it seems has been playing a stellar game with the Great Neck Aces. Last week he played for just one half of the game, and in that time caged nine baskets. And the week before that, while playing stationary guard, he placed seven field goals through the hoops.

Down on the South Side, we are told by Alex Samuels who is a great baseball fan, the boys are starting to loosen up their wings in the alleys. The plunk of the horsehide finding its nest in the big mit resounds through the air, and causes the boys to remember that in a short time, the season will officially open.

And up on the North Hill, they are also rushing the season. Every nice evening, a group of sand lotters gather on the vacant ground opposite the Highland school and play until it

City Official Dies Suddenly Late Tuesday

Heart Attack Is Fatal To City Controller Alvah L. Porter

DEATH IS SHOC TO CITIZENS HERE

Porter Was Elected Five Times To Position As City Controller

Alvah Luther Porter, aged 73, five times the choice of the people of the city as city controller, a former district attorney of Lawrence county, widely known attorney and one of the most highly respected citizens of New Castle, died Tuesday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock at his home, 716 Young street, after an illness of but one day due to heart trouble.

Apparently in his usual good health until Tuesday morning about 11 o'clock, when suddenly overcome with what was at first thought to be an attack of acute indigestion, while in the vicinity of his former residence, 427 Court street, he went to the home of R. B. Shiner, 429 Court street, and had a physician called. Gaining relief from the efforts of the physician, it was thought that he would soon be over his illness, as he rallied and was late in the afternoon able to go to his Young street place of residence.

Death is Shock.

His death comes as a shock to the community in general and especially to his immediate relatives and those persons with whom he was associated in his work as city controller. In his many years as city controller here, Mr. Porter became known throughout the city and the state as one of the most competent men filling that position in any of the cities of the third class.

Mr. Porter was born at New Bedford, Pa., the son of Newton and Margaret Jane McClusky Porter, and had been a resident of Lawrence county all his life.

He was admitted to the bar about 1884 and had been an attorney for approximately 44 years. He served one term as district attorney, during the term of Judges McMichaels and Hazen.

He was always active in Republican

Finds Wife Dead On Back Porch Of Denver Ave. Home

Mrs. Mary Serwatka Dies Tuesday Evening On Way Home From Visit

BELIEVE EXERTION AFFECTED HEART

Returning from work about 5 o'clock Tuesday evening, Stanley Serwatka of Denver avenue, found his wife Mary Serwatka lying face downward on the back porch of his home apparently dead. Mr. Serwatka carried his wife into the house and summoned a physician who found that life had been extinct for some time.

Investigating the case Coroner J. P. Caldwell found that Mrs. Serwatka had been at the home of a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Joseph White during the afternoon. She appeared to be in her usual health. Before she left shortly before 5 o'clock Mrs. White gave her a cup of tea. After drinking the tea Mrs. Serwatka said that she must hurry home as her husband would soon be there for supper.

Exertion Affects Heart.

The White residence is a short distance down Denver avenue from the Serwatka house. There is a steep grade up to the Serwatka house. Mrs. Serwatka was a stout woman and it is believed that the exertion of going up the hill affected her heart and was the prime cause of her death. So far as learned nobody had seen Mrs. Serwatka from the time she left the White residence until she was found by her husband.

Mrs. Serwatka was born in Poland 64 years ago. She was twice married Children by her first marriage are Joseph White of Denver avenue and George Niemczk of Plainfield, N. J.

Children by second marriage are Mrs. Anna Pilch, court interpretress of Grimes street and Mrs. Frances Solkovitz of Jackson avenue.

Mrs. Serwatka was a member of St. Joseph and Phillips church. Funeral announcement later.

Rivers Recede In California; Danger Lessens

Northern And Central California Starts Checking Up Flood Damage

ESTIMATE AT LEAST 300 ARE HOMELESS

Twenty Thousand Acres Of Valuable Orchard Lands Are Inundated

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Northern and Central California emerged today from the destructive floods which ravaged towns and agricultural areas for a period of some 48 hours.

With the government weather observers predicting fair climate, the Sacramento river and its tributaries continued to recede from the high levels which swept four persons to death, drove more than 300 residents of North Sacramento from their homes and caused heavy damage to crops, bridges, buildings, railroads and highways.

The only danger which threatened further depredations today was seen in reports that the Feather river still continued to creep upward on its banks in the higher reaches.

Although government observers were of the opinion that the Sacramento river will maintain high levels along its banks for at least four days, it was pointed out that this will be due to the drainage of water from adjacent flood areas and will not constitute a serious menace unless new rain storms descend.

Relief Work Rushed

Relief work, conducted by state agencies and the Red Cross, among the homeless of North Sacramento, proceeded in orderly fashion, while details of the California National guard patrolled the water-soaked suburb of the state capital to guard against looting.

The waters of the Stanislaus river, which broke through a levee and flooded nearly 15,000 acres in the San Joaquin Valley, were returning to their normal courses today.

Residents of the district surrounding Yuba City on the Feather river were beginning to return to their homes. Twenty Thousand acres of valuable orchard lands in this region were inundated when the rising waters tore through a levee and sent 100 families scurrying to higher levels for safety.

ARRESTLESS DAY FOR CITY POLICE

Tuesday night was one of the slowest recorded in the history of the New Castle police department in some time.

There was not an arrest made since early Tuesday morning until late today.

Cold Weather Checks Flood

Onrush Of Water In Vermont Checked By Sudden Cold Spell

TWO ARE DROWNED DYNAMITING ICE

(International News Service)

MONTPELIER, Vt., March 28.—Cold weather today checked the onrush of water of the ice swollen streams of northern New England that threatened a repetition of the November flood. The cold wave that descended unexpectedly dried out many muddy roads that were almost impassible, and prevented great damage to railroad roadbeds in this section.

Two lives were lost in the latest New England flood. The fatalities occurred at Gorham, N. H., in the new cut on the Peabody river. Two men were dynamiting an ice jam to prevent it from damaging a bridge down stream. The ice was suddenly swept from under them, and they were plunged into the turbulent stream and drowned.

Vermont, which suffered most in the November flood, again found its roads flooded and bridge threatened with destruction. Deep mud holes between this city and Burlington made motor traffic impossible except for light cars.

Several highways in the vicinity of Brattleboro were utterly impassable, and on the road from here to Springfield, Vt., and in Westminster, many cars were mired.

At Bellows Falls the Connecticut river began rising and a four foot increase in the height of the water was recorded.

Seven Known Dead In Earthquake In Italian Province

(International News Service)

ROME, March 28.—With seven bodies recovered, soldiers were engaged today in rescue work in Udine Province where a severe earthquake did extensive damage yesterday. The injured are estimated at from 30 to 40.

The village of Versignis was nearly destroyed. The village priest had just celebrated a thanksgiving service for the population's escape in Monday's earthquake when the new tremors began. The church in which the thanksgiving service had been held collapsed a few minutes after the congregation had left it.

The villages of Canova, Tolmezzo, Cavazza and Carnico, in the Carnia region, were damaged. This district bore the brunt of the disturbance.

The tremors precipitated numerous landslides in the neighboring mountains.

Some villages were completely deserted, the people taking refuge in the fields.

Salerno Fired Murder Bullet, Says Verdict

Coroner's Jury Investigates Shooting Of Tranquillo Sunday Night

LITTLE LIGHT ON CRIME IS GIVEN

No Eye-Witnesses To Crime; Dying Statement Is Presented

Coroner's jury sitting last night at the office of Alderman L. C. Mantz in the case of Joseph Tranquillo, shot and killed Sunday night, returned the following verdict: "That Joseph Tranquillo, who died in the New Castle hospital Sunday evening, March 25, came to his death as a result of a bullet fired from a gun in the hand of Leonard Salerno, on Home street, New Castle, Lawrence county, Pa., earlier the same evening."

Coroner J. P. Caldwell presided at the inquest.

District Attorney J. Elder Bryan was present and looked after the interests of the commonwealth. The number of witnesses heard was three. There was little, if anything, added to the information which was obtained on the night of the murder.

Doctor Testifies

Dr. S. W. Perry was the first witness called. He stated he had held a post mortem examination of the dead man the morning following his death. This had taken place in the New Castle hospital. The bullet, he stated, had entered the body of Tranquillo at the right breast, penetrating the chest wall, then going upward through the right lung, then into the pericardium, the cavity in which the heart is located, then went backward

Sergt. Florida To Go To France

Selected To Represent Engineers In Escort Of Honor

TWO ALTERNATES ALSO SELECTED

Captain William R. Walter, commanding officer of Company "B", 125th Engineer Battalion (Mtd.) announces that Staff Sergeant Forest L. Florida has been selected as "honor man" to represent Company "B" in the escort of honor that is being sent to France by Pennsylvania to participate in the dedication of the World War memorials that have been erected on the battlefields.

Sergeant Florida enlisted in troop "A", 104th Cavalry on May 1, 1920, and has been in service continuously since that time. Upon the organizing of Company "B" he enlisted the day following his honorable discharge from troop "A", which was disbanded on February 22, 1927. While Company "B" was being organized Sergeant Florida was given a temporary appointment as sergeant and upon the organization being mustered into service was made staff sergeant and has held this grade.

Sergeant Florida's work with Company "B" is principally concerned with the administration affairs of the unit and has the distinction of holding the most proficient in this important feature of National Guard affairs.

Alternates Named

Alternates have been chosen and these men are Sergeant Mitchell H. Degation and Sergeant Percy J. Knight.

Sergeant Degation enlisted first in troop "A", 104th Cavalry, on January 1, 1924, and his service has been continuous to date. Upon the disbandment of troop "A", 104th Cavalry, he immediately re-enlisted in Company "B" and was made sergeant. He now holds the rating of stable sergeant.

Sergeant Knight was also a member of former troop "A", having enlisted on April 1, 1927. Upon being honorably discharged on account of disbandment of troop "A", he, too, re-enlisted in Company "B", and has

Chicago Citizens Offer Big Reward In Bombing Terror

Factions Opposed To Senator Deneen And Judge Swanson Are Aroused

SENATE MAY TAKE HAND IN OUTRAGES

Chicago For First Time Since Great Fire Is Thoroughly Scared

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 28.—A fortune of $65,000 today awaits the person who can name the men responsible for the ruthless bombings which Monday night endangered eight innocent lives and partially demolished the homes of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John A. Swanson.

To make the reward offering more alluring, it provides that if the informant should be one of the actual perpetrators of the crime or in any manner involved, he will be immune from arrest and prosecution.

Reward Offered

This huge reward, a record in Illinois for a crime involving no fatalities, was posted by 12 local Republican leaders, all opposed to the Republican faction headed by Senator Deneen.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, rival in the April primaries of Judge Swanson, headed the list with $10,000 of his personal fortune. Mayor William Hale Thompson, Crowe's political ally, added $5,000, as did Commissioner of Police Michael Hughes, a Thompson appointee.

Nine other leaders in the Thompson-Crowe organization, who contrib-

Posse Searches For Murderer

Postmaster At Wallkill, N. Y., Shoots Fiancee Of His Brother After Argument

(International News Service)

WALLKILL, N. Y., March 28.—A posse was searching the countryside today for Harry T. McHugh, 31, suspected of shooting his brother's fiancee here yesterday.

The girl, Marie Terwilliger, nineteen-year-old telephone operator, was shot in front of her home here following a quarrel with McHugh, according to police. She staggered across the street and fell dead.

McHugh Postmaster.

McHugh is the postmaster of the village. Miss Margaret Goldsmith, a friend of the slain girl, told police that McHugh had accused Miss Terwilliger and his brother of "loose conduct." The quarrel followed, she said.

Believing that McHugh might have committed suicide, state troopers dragged the village mill pond. His body was not found, however, and posse then took up the search for the missing postmaster.

McHugh, a world war veteran, was said to have acted queerly recently.

Council To Name Porter's Successor

It will be the duty of council to name a successor to the late City Controller Alvah Porter who passed away suddenly last night it was stated today by Solicitor Robert White in reply to a question as to who would have the appointive power.

Council will name the person to fill the vacancy until 1930. However, state law provides that at the next municipal election a controller shall be named for four years. The next municipal election will be held in 1929.

German Aviators Postpone Flight Due To Weather

Unfavorable Weather Reports Keep German Flyers At Irish Airport

HOPE TO REACH MITCHEL FIELD

Captain Koehl And Two Companions Anxious For Start Across Atlantic

(International News Service)

DUBLIN, March 28.—Strong westerly winds which made trans-Atlantic flying too perilous compelled the German ace, Capt. Herman Koehl, to postpone his hop off to America until tomorrow. Koehl and his two companions had hoped to leave Baldonnel airdrome in their Junkers monoplane Bremen today, but flying conditions at dawn were unfavorable and failed to improve.

"We hope for better weather tomorrow," said Koehl.

In addition to strong winds off the Irish coast, the British air ministry reported stormy weather in mid-Atlantic.

Baron Von Huenefeld, who will accompany Pilot Koehl as a passenger, said the flyers would be guided by the air ministry weather bulletins in making their plans.

Wings Will Be Greased.

Just before the hop off the wings of the plane will be coated with grease or oil to prevent ice from forming upon them. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, pioneer in trans-Atlantic flying, after his venturesome flight from New York to Paris, said that one of the greatest dangers was the formation of ice upon the plane wings.

A great deal of confusion has exist-

Pyle's Coast-To-Coast Runners Detour When Arrangements Fail

DETROIT MEDICO STILL HEADS VAN

By LELAND C. LEWIS,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS LUNAS, N. MEX., March 28.—C. C. ("Cross Country") Pyle gave Albuquerque only a microscopic view of his short-pantied athletes as they pushed eastward today into the desert fastness toward their twenty-fifth night control.

After battling sand and wind along the forty-nine-mile stretch between old Laguna and Los Lunas, on the banks of the Rio Grande, the runners approved the decision of Pyle not to visit the New Mexico metropolis.

Not Behind Race

"Officials of Albuquerque demonstrated that they were not behind the race," Pyle said, "when they refused to permit our program men to sell programs that public may identify individual athletes. When that ultimatum was issued I had to revise my route accordingly. We still are following United States highway No. 66, the 'main street of America,' and in this case we are not using Albuquerque's alleys."

When the heel and toe field started from Los Lunas this morning,

They will run without water though not very far, but one thing is true, look alas, they won't run an inch except down a steep grade, if you don't keep them filled up with gas. They're funny that way, these automobiles, they're a pleasure when nothing is wrong, but run out of gas on a hill now and then, and you know what's the matter ere long. A queer gasping snort, and a rasping like cough, then you sit there and idly wait, till a friend comes along with a gallon of gas, the weather is bright thirty-eight.

Mrs. Goodhue Is Close To Death, Doctors Report

By HAROLD J. NOONAN
International News Service Special Correspondent.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 28.—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, by her cheering presence is keeping her mother alive, according to physicians at the bedside of Mrs. Lemira Goodhue. But even Mrs. Coolidge cannot long ward off death. The president is ready to leave Washington at a moment's notice.

Though Mrs. Goodhue spends most of her hours in delirium, according to Dr. Justin Hayes, she becomes wholly rational during her daughter's frequent visits to the Cooley-Dickinson hospital, smiles and is obviously cheered.

"Mrs. Goodhue was able to talk with Mrs. Coolidge during one of her visits although what she said was of necessity brief," said Dr. Hayes. "But those few words and the presence of her daughter seemed to have the effect of helping her in her fight for life."

Mrs. Coolidge, accompanied by Dr. Joel F. Boone, White House physician, spent several hours at the hospital at her mother's bedside. She dined with Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hills at their home on Massasoit street, near the Coolidge residence.

Mrs. Goodhue rested quietly during most of the night. She remained clear mentally, her delirious moments being due to a faulty kidney.

Lindbergh Flies To New York City

He flew the same cabin monoplane in which he has been making recent flights about the country and was accompanied by Maj. Thomas Lanphier, commandant of Selfridge Field, Mich.

Lindbergh was uncommunicative, as usual regarding the flight and his future plans although many reports concerning his future activities were being circulated here today.

Housecleaning time in here; if anyone doubts it, they have but to enter any of the office buildings down town. There they will see charwomen, and charmen (pardon the word) busily engaged in scraping the winter's accumulation of grime from the walls. Sometimes, the results are surprising.

While many others pass it daily, and do not think much about it, Pa Newc still wonders how much longer the civic pride of New Castle will allow the sign in front of the Salvation Army store on West Washington street to remain up. It was only the other day that Pa Newc stopped in the store and asked when it would be taken down. The only answer was a smile.

At last Pa Newc can report that the hole in Garfield avenue has been repaired, but credit for the performance should go to a man living on the same avenue. The hole, a bad one, which often mired cars up to the hub caps, lay directly in front of his house. Last evening, he got tired of looking at it, so after work, he got a light truck and a shovel and filled it in.

INDIANA MAN IS SELECTED AS NEW SECRETARY

entered the University of Illinois, and was graduated from the school of Commerce and Business Administration. Later he entered the School of Commercial Secretaries and Trade Executives at Northwestern, where he graduated in 1924.

Immediately after graduation, Mr. Cole was elected secretary-manager of the Mattoon, Ill., Association of Commerce. Later he was elected secretary-manager of the Huntington, Ind., Chamber of Commerce, from where he comes to New Castle.

Mr. Cole has been very active in the affairs of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and also in the National Association of Commercial secretaries throughout the United States.

During his service as a Chamber of Commerce secretary in Illinois, he was a member of the board of directors and was secretary of the Illinois Commercial Secretaries association, and as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Huntington, Ind., he held the same offices in the Indiana Commercial Secretaries association.

Married, Mr. Cole in a short time, intends to bring his family to New Castle.

While in school, he was very active in student affairs, being a member of the Acacia fraternity and an officer of the Illini Chamber of Commerce, an association which handled the civic problems of more than 10,000 students.

In Scout Work

Throughout his public life, Mr. Cole has been active in Boy Scout work, and at a meeting held here Tuesday evening, he was elected a member of the executive board of the Lawrence County Council, Boy Scouts of America, to succeed Mr. Chilton.

During his career in the commercial secretary field, Mr. Cole has proven to be an exceptional organizer and business man, and he is looked upon by officials of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States as one of the outstanding young secretaries of the country.

"You know," confided Mr. Cole, "it is an entirely new experience to me in coming to a city where the Chamber of Commerce is organized and functioning. Both at Mattoon and at Huntington the Chambers of Commerce were almost defunct."

Mr. Chilton explained that the Chambers at these two places, before Mr. Cole came as their secretary, were impoverished and very poorly functioning. Immediately after Mr. Cole took office, they were again on their feet. His past record, says Mr. Chilton, is one of exceptional accomplishment. In each case, the population of the town grew, and there was less and less of the unemployment problem.

Because of his activities in national affairs, Mr. Cole is known personally to almost all of the members of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Cole will take over the affairs of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce officially on Monday, April 2, the date upon which Mr. Chilton's resignation becomes effective.

held the grade of sergeant for the majority of his enlistment. He is one of the duty sergeants.

The discharge certificates received by these men at the end of each enlistment have all borne the remark, "Excellent character".

At the present time company "B" does not have a very great number of men who have had long service, and while there are quite a number of members who might otherwise have qualified as "honor man" or alternate, their short period of service in comparison with the selected man made their percentage too low for consideration this time. However, there are always opportunities with this organization and any man who makes an effort to perform his duty to the best of his ability will be given the chance to qualify.

Battalion May Come Here

Captain William H. Crosson, senior-instructor of engineers in Pennsylvania, is expected in the city today for a conference with Company "B" officers and civic officials of the city.

Captain Crosson will remain here over Thursday and is scheduled to appear at the Chamber of Commerce board meeting on Thursday.

Among numerous matters that will be taken up with him will be the possibility of securing the battalion for New Castle.

uted $5,000 each to the reward fund, are: Homer K. Galpin, George F. Harding, Eugene R. Pike, Charles V. Barrett, Bernard W. Snow, Lawrence F. King, Edward J. Brundage, John W. Jaranowski and Sheriff John Graydon.

These men gave as their reason that they believed the bombings had been inspired by Deneen's own organization to "discredit Thompson and Crowe", and that they were more interested than anyone else in bringing the guilty to justice.

Meanwhile Police Commissioner Hughes announces there have been "no arrests" and "no new developments" in the sensational case during the past 24 hours.

Three Probes Started

Three separate inquiries are under way, one by the state's attorney's office, one by the police department and the third by special investigators hired by the Deneen-Swanson organization.

Federal intervention, through action in the United States Senate, was forecast as a certainty today by a high official in the federal building.

The Senate action, it was said, will be based on a resolution to be introduced by one of Senator Deneen's colleagues. Grounds will be that not only was a member of the Senate a target for intimidatory attack, but that the offense was committed during a national election campaign.

United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, living a few doors from the bomb-wrecked home of Judge Swanson, was first quoted as saying he would launch a government investigation; later he declared he had been misquoted, stating that he was powerless to act unless the Senate authorized such an inquiry.

Chicago Is Aroused

Chicago, perhaps for the first time since the great fire, is thoroughly scared, especially are citizens living in the Englewood district where the bombings occurred gripped in terror. Many are afraid to venture into the streets. Children are escorted to school under heavy guard.

Plain clothes men and police officers, bristling with arms, are stationed about the homes of all political leaders, regardless of party or faction. The homes of Mayor William Hale Thompson and State's Attorney Crowe are well fortified. Citizens go about the districts in terror, knowing not what minute another fearful outburst will occur.

To many of the frightened citizens, who for the first time seem to be awakening to the real danger of the situation, there was nothing humorous in Washington despatches stating that senators advocated bringing marines from Nicaragua to Chicago. Many of these citizens, especially the neighbors of Senator Deneen and Judge Swanson, heartily endorsed the plan.

SALERNO FIRED MURDER BULLET, SAYS VERDICT

and lodged near the third dorsal vertebra. He felt quite sure that the death of Tranquillo was due to this gunshot wound.

Charles Audino, 814 South Mill street, was then called and told of being with Joseph Tranquillo on Sunday evening in the House of Savoia clubhouse. Tranquillo, who was treasurer of the organization, had given him a check, which he had had signed by the president of the organization, which he was to use in paying some taxes on property owned by the society and located on South Mill street. Audino is financial secretary of the House of Savoia. There had been no trouble in the hall, he said.

Salerno Arrives

They left the hall about 9:30 o'clock, he and Tranquillo walking up Home street to the Tranquillo home, where they had said good night after Tranquillo had thanked him for what he had done that evening, when Leonard Salerno came up and said to Joe Tranquillo, "I want to talk to you."

"Get the hell out of here," was the reply of Tranquillo, "I want no trouble and I don't want to talk to you."

"Then I said," testified Audino, "Why should good friends fight?" thinking to prevent trouble.

"Salerno turned on me," testified Audino, "and told me to go straight that way," as he pointed toward my home. I didn't want any trouble, so I left."

Tranquillo, according to Audino, had even braced his foot against the gate of the fence to prevent the entrance of Salerno.

As Tranquillo went into his home Salerno had started down street toward his home. Audino saw Tranquillo come out again and he went back to the porch and asked him what he was going to do. Tranquillo had told him he was going to Salerno's home to talk to him.

"I said," testified Audino, "stay here, wait until tomorrow to go down. It will be better then."

Hears Two Shots

As Tranquillo went down Home street toward the Salerno home Audino had started for his home and he was almost to Mill street when he heard two shots. He hurried back. There was a great crowd of people. Tranquillo was lying on the sidewalk and his wife was there. Seeing Audino, she said to him, "you know something." He replied to her, "I will go to the police station and tell the truth." On cross-examination he stated that Tranquillo and Salerno to the best of his knowledge had been the best of friends and had had no trouble.

Chief of Police C. C. Horner then presented to the jury the dying statement of Tranquillo taken in the New Castle hospital by Detective C. G. Logan after Tranquillo had received the last rites of the Catholic church, in which he said that Leonard Salerno had shot him and that they had had no trouble.

The members of the coroner's jury were J. Dick Long, H. K. Bell, G. N. Clark, R. E. Cage, Harvey Carpenter and C. W. Haus.

(International News Service)

BRIDGEVILLE, Pa., March 28.—It was established today that several high tension wires and cables which burned and fell to the ground at Collins township late yesterday, lighting the sky for miles with a spectacular glow, was caused when the electric wires came in contact with 800 feet of barbed wire which was suspended from the tail of an airplane.

The plane, it was revealed, flew 290 miles with 800 feet of barbed wire hanging to its tail. In the machine during the flight were Pilot J. Warren Smith, manager of Mayer field here; C. P. Mayer, owner of the field; and E. J. Webber, official of the First National bank of Bridgeville.

ed as to the identity of the relief pilot. When the plane left Berlin on Monday it carried Arthur Spindler, a skilled mechanic, along with Koehl and Von Huenefeld. Upon the arrival at Baldonnel airdrome it was stated that Fritz Loose would take Spindler's place. However, Spindler is here and there is every indication that he will be the third member of the party.

With true German thoroughness, Koehl and Spindler went over the plane today and found it in perfect condition. Both expressed themselves as confident that every human precaution has been taken to insure success.

Will Travel Light.

While Mitchel field, New York, has generally been accepted as the destination of the German airmen, the possibility exists that they may attempt to reach Philadelphia if conditions permit. It is understood that the offer of a Philadelphia newspaper of a $25,000 prize to the first airmen making a non-stop flight from a European capital to the Pennsylvania city still holds good.

However, the chief concern of the flyers is to reach America. That was their sole thought today and they refused to comment upon the suggestion that they might try to reach Philadelphia.

The airmen are going to travel light. They will carry only their flying clothes and their food will consist mainly of hot coffee and tea, taken in thermos bottles, bars of chocolate and ham and chicken sandwiches.

Tax Collection Costs---

Pennsylvania is paying too much for the collection of taxes. There is nothing new in this statement, the condition has existed for many years.

The Schantz Bill would have remedied the situation to a large extent, but the Schantz Bill was "pickled" in the Senate committee, in 1927. Once again the efforts of a powerful, iniquitous lobby prevailed.

The Schantz Bill provided for a reorganization of our tax assessment and collection agencies, with a sharp lowering of costs. The only person who would have benefited would have been the taxpayer, so of course the Lobby was against it.

It is high time that this particular lobby was driven out of the Capitol, that tax costs were lowered and the entire tax system revised.

If nominated and re-elected to the General Assembly I expect to continue the fight against this Lobby, and to continue the fight for a more business like system of the collection of taxes.

REFORESTATION PROGRESS

THE IDEA of American Forest Week, which is to be observed this year during the week of April 23, is to keep in the foreground of public interest a great movement, both national and local, to perpetrate a vital natural resource.

There is an incalculable benefit in winning popular encouragement for rehabilitation and sound forestry, a work now so hopefully begun, but needing the strong support of the collective will and intelligence of the nation.

Every person cannot go out and plant trees.

The appeal, in forest week, for direct action is to landowners, perhaps most emphatically to large private holders. They are not asked to cease cutting their timber, but only to plant a new tree for every one that falls from the woodman's ax.

Many lumbermen still cut over their acres with no provision for replacement, other than that afforded by nature. But there is also a hopeful trend in this field to develop timber growing as a permanent land usage.

The tendency among forest industries and timberland owners toward permanent retention of title for the purpose of timber production is regarded as distinctly favorable. Unstable forest land ownership is considered one of the greatest single obstacles to the rapid spread of timber growing.

None of the abundant literature on forest conservation and reforestation is pessimistic. Even the American Forest Week campaign of education and stimulation is having an appreciable effect.

But that does not mean the goal has been won. Of the 460,000,000 acres in the United States which foresters classify as forest land, 80,000,000 acres are unproductive unless planted artificially. And carelessness is behind nine out of ten of the forest fires which annually destroy timber worth $20,000,000.

PENNSYLVANIA GAINS IN CHILD-SAVING

IT WILL be interesting to hear the reasons for Pennsylvania's record in the percentage of decline in rural district infant mortality.

The fact has been announced by the Children's Bureau at Washington in connection with the annual conference of state directors of maternity and infancy work to be held next week in Washington with a session in Philadelphia.

Of all states co-operating under the Federal Maternity and Infancy act, during the entire period it has been in effect exclusive of the influenza epidemic year of 1918, Pennsylvania led with a rural district decline of 14.1 per cent. This state was also among the first seven in the decrease of maternal mortality in rural areas.

Gratifying as the report may be, it still leaves room for improvement. Australia and New Zealand, England, Norway, the Netherlands and Switzerland still outrank this country in low infant mortality rates. New York, Chicago and San Francisco outrank Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. In maternity mortality Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, the Netherlands, Italy and Japan have better records than the United States.

Success is run on the self-service plan, also.

Every office has somebody who is sorry the boss is so ignorant.

The push that makes many a man a success in life is done by his wife.

The demand for a man who is interested in someone besides himself always exceeds the supply.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

LAUGHTER.

Dr. James J. Walsh, noted New York physician, thinks laughter is the best exercise. It produces mechanical stimulation on virtually every organ in the chest and abdomen by mechanical movements of the diaphragm. But perhaps too much can be said for laughter. Natural laughter is a fine and happy expression. A forced laugh is sad. The most irritating people in the world are those who are always smiling. And Dr. Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Journal calls our attention to the fact that although man may be the only animal that laughs the same stimulation of the diaphragm comes from the mooing of a cow and the braying of a donkey.

FREEDOM.

How free are you? How many of us are free? That is to say, how many of us are guided very closely by what others do and think or what others may do or may think? We dress a certain way because we feel that our friends or acquaintances expect us to dress a certain way and will look at us disapprovingly if we do not. We express not the emotions that we really feel but the emotions that are considered appropriate at the time. Few people are big enough few have personality enough to act with any degree of freedom.

INSURANCE.

It is said that the late Rodman Wanamaker carried $5,000,000 worth of insurance. He was one of the most heavily insured men in the world. He was a great business man and like all smart business men he was a believer in insurance. He knew that most occupations in life are hazardous. Life and all its affairs are uncertain. Insurance in a good company—and there are many—is about as sure a thing as life offers—next to death. Thinking men put all the money they can afford into insurance.

SINCLAIR LEWIS.

It is said the most fashionable novelist in Viena, Austria is Sinclair Lewis. And Lewis writes about American life and manners. The people in Vienna, not knowing for the most part anything about American life and manners like the books of Lewis. We in America know how right or wrong Lewis is. We know that in "Main Street" there are many characters true to life. Also in "Babbitt." We know too, that nobody ever knew a preacher like "Elmer Gantry." We know—we common, small town Americans—when Lewis proves that he doesn't know what he is talking about.

Every time the Hints and Dints man has a birthday quite a few people get to wondering and inquiring how old he is. Well, we are not ashamed of our age. On the 12th of this month we were 60 years old, and we come from a family that does not live long. Nearly 48 of those years have been spent on The News. Oh, wham de doodle wham!

It takes very little applause to make some people high hat.

Some people wonder why we write letters back home to The News while away from home. Well, the editor, Mr. Conway, wants us to, and we also have to do something for our salary, which goes on just the same as when we are at home. It also pays us to go away for a while each winter, as getting this column up every day and many other things get on our nerves, and when we did not go away we spent from seven to 10 weeks in bed each year sick. Since we have been going away we have not had to go to bed, so it's cheaper to go away and some of the folks say they would rather read our stuff when we are away than the stuff we get out when at home. We do not want any mistaken idea about this matter.

NEW CASTLE, PA., VISITORS STOP HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rentz and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ferver of New Castle, Pa., en route home from Mexico and Florida, were guests overnight of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Papenhausen of Washington street.

Mr. Rentz is recognized as one of the leading newspaper men of the country. He is president and managing editor of the New Castle News, one of the leading newspapers of western Pennsylvania. He is a former president of the Rotary club and chamber of commerce of New Castle. While president of the chamber of commerce he put over a get-together banquet which was conceded to be one of the largest banquets of its kind ever held, there being 2,800 people seated at the tables at one time.

He has been a leader in politics, having held the office of mayor of New Castle, as well as a number of other important offices, and is now running for delegate to the national convention.

He regretted very much that he was unable to meet all his Pennsylvania friends here during his short stay. He was very much impressed with Hendersonville and some time in the near future he expects to come here for a longer visit.—The Times-News, Hendersonville, N. C., Thursday, March 22.

GEORGE J. KENNELLY

Some years ago we knew a little chap who lived with his parents on Pine street, in the third ward, this city. That chap went out to California and is doing quite well out there. He is recognized as the most efficient court reporter on the Pacific coast. He has reported all the big court cases on the coast in recent years. He was the official court reporter in the Hickman trial and the Los Angeles Evening Herald in reporting the Hickman trial, remarked: "It's just another trial for G. J. Kennelly, one of the court reporters. "He took down notes on the Obenchain, Clara Phillips, Wolfgang and Ku Klux Inglewood cases, besides dozens of others prominent in newspaper headlines."

The Los Angeles Examiner, in the evidence in the Hickman case, had the following to say:

"This, in brief, was the sum total of the expert testimony. It was testimony that bristled with technical words. 'Echolalia', 'ideation', 'neologistic' and 'hypochondriacal' were some of the words that came from the lips of Doctor Mikels, at times at the rate of 200 a minute, to test the skill of Court Reporter G. J. Kennelly."

George Kennelly's friends and relatives in New Castle will be glad to hear that he has more than made good. We know him well and rejoice to know he makes 'em all look up to him. He is the senior member of the firm of Kennelly & Person, shorthand reporters and notaries, Hall of Justice, Los Angeles, Cal.

A Stock Exchange seat sold for $375,000—$25,000 more than Saturday's price. Exchange seats will go to half a million, and then the 1,100 seats on the Stock Exchange will be worth $550,000,000. When Russell Sage and Jay Gould were active you could have bought them all for $55,000. Everything goes up.

That's one side of the picture. The other side is supplied by Mr. Davis, secretary of labor, who tells the Senate that "unemployment is serious."

Stocks increasing in value more than a thousand millions in a day, and 1,847,050 men out of work do not make a pretty combination.

Chicago's chief of police, smashing gambling house doors, says, "there will always be gambling. Everything in life is a gamble." That is inaccurate. THE INSANITY PLEA

Attention has been called in many recent criminal cases to the validity of the plea of insanity. No one wants to hang an insane man, but still no one wants such a person to escape the consequences of his deeds by pleading insanity as an alibi.

The plea of insanity seems to rest upon the fact that the insane had no sense of right and wrong when he committed his wrongful act. As a matter of fact, however, most persons when they do wrong, seek to justify it, although ordinarily in a very flimsy way, by thinking that it is right.

The robber thinks it is right to take from the rich and give to the poor, after the manner of Robin Hood.

The murderer may think it is right to slay his victim because he thinks said victim needs killing. Whatever the man may think, however, the fact of right and wrong is not to be determined by his decision, but by that of society.

The community at large in every country has decided that it is wrong to take another man's property, or his life, no matter what the perpetrator of the deed may think, and the community has a right to stand by his own convictions.

The plea of the murderer, therefore, that he could not distinguish between right and wrong at the time of his act and was, therefore, insane, should not work to relieve him of the responsibility of his deed.

There are people with no moral sense and no moral nature, as far as we can see, but these people should not be excused from paying the penalty of their wrongful acts.

Particularly if a man can be shown to be sane enough to have carefully laid his plans and to have secretly carried them out until apprehended by the law, he should not be allowed to escape punishment because he said he was insane.

Is not every wrong doer insane?

Maudlin sentiment for the criminal and an effort to have him escape the penalty of the law because of sentimental reasons would reduce society to the level of an old woman.

We, all of us, should take the consequences of our evil deeds, and judges should be very chary of allowing the plea of insanity to permit us to escape this penalty.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WOMAN AGAIN.

American women broke another precedent March 11th, 1928, when they participated as jockeys in the first officially accredited race on this continent for women riders only. The race was the Coronado Town Plate, inspired by the Newmarket Town Plate in England. It was run over a distance of six furlongs at Tia Juana, B. C. with nine women starting. The race was on Mexican soil but all riders were citizens of the United States.

The winning jockey was not a circus rider, nor yet a professional horsewoman, nor a stunt performer employed for the occasion, but a young high school girl, Miss Dorothy Schneider, a student at Long Beach, California, who always has been a a horse lover. She had the mount on E. E. Watson's Holly Boy, a horse whose name for some reason has a familiar sound.

Mrs. E. Petzholdt's Hominy, with Miss Ruth Parton up, ran second and Big Heart third, with Miss Bonnie Gray, well known rodeo rider, up. The time was 1:14 4-5, just 5 1-5 seconds slower than the American record made by that double record holder Iron Mask at Juarez in 1914.

I saw the race and Miss Schneider rode as well as any jockey excepting Earl Pool and Earl Sande, the two "Earls" of the American Turf. She won by a nose in a "driving finish." That she did better with Holly Boy than was expected is reflected by the return of $50.60 through the parimutuels.

Now such an event in America may be only a stunt, never repeated, or a fixture of short duration. On the other hand, generations yet to come may look back upon it as a milestone in the development of racing.

In Maryland, Virginia, South Carolina, Michigan and perhaps in many other states, girls are now riding every year at special amateur meetings. That means they are learning to ride not only astride but in the forward racing seat, which should make them the most finished horsewomen in the world.

What a pity it would be, however, to see them give up the side saddle in which they are most at home, lightest in hand, firmest in seat, and by all odds prettiest to see. There is little chance, however, of the side saddle being relegated just yet to history with some of he outworn restrictions, ordaining women must use them for the sake of modesty. In the best American hunting countries where hands and seat really count, the side saddle appears in the proportion of four to one. With a very few exceptions, too, the best horsewomen are to be seen on them.

Women are cleverer with horses in part because of the freedom of body, arms and hands which the saddle gives. Their lighter weight proves another advantage and possibly their temperament, a third. But in racing on the flat they will not have the advantage over men which the side saddle hitherto has given them.

A Horrible Night.

An endless night of dreadful dreams,
Broken by agonizing screams.

I sat in the electric chair
And heard the holy father's prayer.

Twelve stories high, with nerves on edge,
I fought upon a window ledge.

And roused the household with my yell
As plunging to the street I fell!

I found myself to my disgrace
Half naked in a public place.

All through those dreadful hours of night
I blushed for shame or shrieked for fright.

By murders, wrecks and fires and storms
Death showed me its most hideous forms.

And all because I thought that I
Could still indulge in hot mince pie!

WHAT HAVE WE DONE?

When the Golden Age of Greece had passed on, and Greeks began establishing shoe-shine stands and restaurants instead of glorious temples to the gods, there was something remaining over from the Golden Age for all future ages. There was a conception and appreciation of beauty, and there were certain enduring examples of the classical Greek's expression of his sense of beauty. We have those things still, and they are among the most precious of our heritages from the past.

The great Roman civilization went the way of all civilizations, but it handed on to the English and Americans an ordered system of civil law that is the basis of our jurisprudence today. I do not know that we have done as much as we might have done in the matter of improving upon the old Roman law and adapting it to modern conditions. I do not know that our jurisprudence has kept up with our mechanics, for instance. But it is not the fault of the Romans if it has not.

Now, what have we done? What have we developed, as the great possession of our Western culture? If the next great war wipes out the civilization of Europe and America, as other wars have wiped out other civilizations, what shall we hand on, imperishable, to those who occupy the surface of the globe after us?

Skyscrapers, airplanes, radio, sanitary plumbing? No, these are items that are merely incidental to the growth of a racial culture. We would be just as civilized without them as with them, although perhaps not so comfortable.

I believe the gain made by what we know as Christian civilization is in humanitarianism. In the attitude of the advantaged toward the disadvantaged. In the growth of compassion. In the strength of human sympathy. In the development of brotherly love.

Other races and cultures have far surpassed us in appreciation of beauty, development of art, profound thinking and vivid imagining. But our age has builded the hospitals, supported the free clinics, devised the Community Chest, inspired the charity of the Salvation Army and given freely to the sufferers through the Red Cross.

Almost without exception, our marble monuments to our dead soldiers are unbeautiful, and thousands of them are hideous. But we give that which endures when marble returns to dust—the love of man for man. If we can pass this spirit on to a future age we will have earned our place in the sun, though our mechanical marvels and our skyscrapers and our wealth be forgotten utterly.

Speculate On Age Of Toad Discovered In Huge Ball Of Clay

(International News Service)

DENVER, March 28.—City Park Museum here was a popular place for curiosity seekers Tuesday because of the arrival of a toad estimated to be three fourths of a million years old.

When a mud ball was received from A. H. Holloman of Fredrick, Okla., Harold J. Cook, honorary curator, opened it to find what was inside. To his great surprise, out hopped a toad, apparently in normal physical condition.

Officials of the museum said they have no reason to believe the incident is a hoax on the part of the Oklahoma quarry owner, but they declined to hazard any statement as to how old the toad might be. Cook, however, was willing to explain his reason for placing the estimate on the age of the mud ball and toad.

"The mud ball bears unmistakable evidence of belonging to the first interglacial, or Aftonian period," said Cook. "That would make it about three quarters of a million years old.

"I am familiar with the place where it was found. It is the bed of a prehistoric stream, which is now a hilltop. A number of fossil bones and implements of prehistoric men have been found in the same vicinity. Excavations have been made in the neighborhood by such authorities as Dr. O. P. Hay of the Smithsonian Institute, and Dr. Gould of Oklahoma University.

Integrity Unquestioned

"This mud ball bears unmistakable evidence of antiquity, and I have no reason to question the integrity of Mr. Holloman.

"Of course, it is almost impossible of belief that a toad or any other reptile could remain alive inside the mud ball for any length of time; but we must remain open to conviction. However, I would have to have great evidence that it is padlocked before accepting the theory that this toad has remained alive, sealed within the mud ball, since prehistoric times.

"The clay of which the mudball is composed, however, could not have been moulded by human hands. That much is a geological certainty."

Nicaraguan Canal Measure In Senate

Senator McKellar Urges Immediate Erection Of Canal In Central America

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 28. — The much discussed Nicaraguan Canal linking the Pacific ocean to the Carribean sea through the Latin-American republic now occupied by American marines, would be built at once under a bill introduced in the senate Tuesday by Senator McKellar (D) of Tennessee.

McKellar urged immediate construction of the canal as a means of restoring order in Nicaragua, prosperity to her people and stability to her government. He said it would be the best way the United States could help Nicaragua.

McKellar's bill would appropriate $10,000,000 to begin work and authorize a $200,000,000 bond issue to cover the cost of the canal.

Many Notables At Funeral For Late Michigan Senator

(International News Service)

BIG RAPIDS, Mich., March 28. — Long lines of men and women including representatives of the state and nation gathered here Tuesday to join in the last rites for Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris of Michigan who died in Washington last week.

Private funeral services were held at the home during the morning. A public service was held in the armory at noon in which official representatives of the United States government and the state of Michigan participated.

Senators and representatives from Washington, Gov. Fred W. Green, delegations from the supreme court, state senators and representatives, and the rank and file of nine national guard units braved a cold wind to march in the procession to the cemetery where Senator Ferris was laid to rest in the family mausoleum.

DEFINITE DECISION ON TAX REDUCTION TO BE MADE SOON

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 28.—A definite decision as to whether there will be a tax cut in the present session of congress will be determined next week after complete figures on the March 15 income tax payments have been received and tabulated, it was announced at the White House Tuesday.

Indications now point to a reduction bill not to exceed $200,000,000, if that. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon said he did not believe any reduction should be made above that figure.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Signs of spring in the greatest city in the world: The old fellow with the red nose and purple cheeks, who annually anticipates the vernal equinox by moving his enormous cylindrical contraption into Bryant park for passers-by to gaze at the sun and sundry planets at 10 cents a squint. Gnome-like fellows in nondescript clothing who emerge from the places in which they hibernate all winter and with bootblack boxes compete with gamins for the shoe-shining trade along Forty-second street between Fifth and Sixth avenues. Handball games at the noon hour with boys chasing balls bounced from the side of the public library. Tots taking their first steps clinging to perambulators attended by blue uniformed nurses in Central park. Emerging crocuses in Central park that are a source of wonderment to children from the Park avenue "Gold Coast." Undressed chows and Pekinese being aired in limousines. Bock beer signs in enterprising speakeasies. The reduced prices of new musical shows. Bill Boyce, Al Leach, Little Samson, Sam Kramer and other pitchmen well known to stain-remover, cornpunk, white stone and medicine buyers on Cheapside, in Lexington, Ky., Collinsville avenue and Division street, in East St. Louis, Ill. and public square in Hobart, Okla., confabbing on a Broadway corner and figuring what to carry to waiting folks in the hinterland. The office help in a physical culture publisher's office exercising behind open windows and attracting a crowd of busy New Yorkers on a pavement below. A man pecking at the winter-hardened soil in a garden atop a skyscraper in The Times Square district. Miss Peggy Hopkins Joyce on Fifth avenue without a fur coat.

When the president of one of New York's biggest corporations went around the world his associates arranged to supply him with a boutonniere every day of the trip. They simply gave the order and a check to Irene Hayes. She's used to handling all sorts of uncommon orders.

Miss Hayes now 30 staked her $2,600 fortune on a florist shop seven years ago after she had tried selling everything from corsets to automobiles. She was walking in the street, saw some roses in a window and decided on the spur of the moment that was the business she wanted to be in. Now she pays one of the highest commercial rentals on Park avenue, has a host of famous and wealthy persons as customers and gives herself $20,000 a year salary.

Florist shopkeepers, jewelers and taxi drivers in lower Broadway became aware of the big bull market in Wall street without reading the newspapers. There is no more lavish spender than the successful stock market speculator.

Because of the possibility of super-generous gifts an unusual number of taxi drivers began cruising up and down the Wall street district as first General Motors and then Radio began to accelerate the market.

Incidentally Wall street didn't get as excited about the "sensational" winnings of Michael Meehan in Radio as did some of the newspapers. A score of operators are more or less constantly engaged in as large and profitable (or unprofitable as the case may be) operations as Meehan's.

Better subjects for stories than Meehan were the men who sold Radio stock short and then had to take losses of from $100,000 to $800,000 each.

FARM FACTS

TIMELY REMINDERS

From The Pennsylvania State College

Prune After Flowering—Shrubs and trees grown for their flowers should not be pruned until after flowering. Spring flowering plants form their buds during the previous season so that they will be ready to burst into bloom with the first few warm days of spring.

Do Odd Jobs Early—Early spring days can be used for cleaning up the trash, sticks and tin cans accumulated around the yard during the winter. With flytime not far away, this is a good time to repair and paint screens. The garden tools also can be repaired and the lawn furniture and trellises given a coat of paint.

Will Seed Corn Grow?—Are you sure your seed corn will grow? If not, test it. The work will not take long and you then will know whether your supply of seed is satisfactory or whether you will have to seek elsewhere.

Alfalfa Needs Lime—Successful growers of alfalfa find that lime and inoculation are very important in the growing of this valuable legume. Where more than a ton of lime is needed, however, farm crops specialists of the Pennsylvania State college suggest that part be put on two or three years before seeding and then another test be made and the remainder applied the year before seeding.

Needs Determine Purchases—Actual needs of the garden should govern the purchase of garden tools. Small gardens need fewer tools than large gardens.

Big Head-Liners For Y Circus Are Being Promised

Although it may sound anachronistic, time as well as space has been scoured for talent for the Zingling Family circus which will make its spring appearance in New Castle at the Y. M. C. A. early in April.

Throughout the centuries scouts for M. Zingling have gone, each collecting the best talent available. And best of them all according to Herr Boulitonides, publicity director for the circus who is now in the city making all arrangements for the showing, is the legion of midget Roman Centurians who will present a full dress parade. East of the lines of patricians will have a scion in the legion and each scion will carry the arms of his house.

The dates of the circus as announced by the Y. M. C. A. are April 5 and 7.

England Spends More Money For Advertising Now

(International News Service)

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, March 28.—Charles A. McCurdy, president of the Advertising Association, speaking at the Newcastle Advertising Club, said that since 1923 the amount spent in advertising in Britain had increased from $500,000,000 to $750,000,000.

"Advertisers," he said, "are beginning to feel the benefit of the expenditure, and the general outlook for 1928 is brighter than last year."

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

A NEST MADE OF FISHBONES

At this point Kingfisher interrupted his wife.

"Now look here, my dear. Don't you make the boy think that you don't work hard. If there is a mother in all birdland that does more for her babies than you, why, I for one don't know who she is. From daylight to dark you are busy making life comfortable for them. In the first place it is no fun sitting on the eggs off here in the dark all alone—to say nothing of the backbreaking task it is to build the tunnel—and while I help you as much as I can you know that it is you who do most of the work."

"Stop saying so many nice things to me or I shall become vain, and you know it would never do for a mother Kingfisher to do that." Mrs. Kingfisher leaned her head lovingly against her husband's shoulder.

"I have too many other things to think about to spare one second to myself. But here we have been home all this while, and I don't believe that you have moved that stone away yet. Do look about, husband, and see if you think that there is any danger of another dropping from the dome. I can't see where this one could have come from."

By this time Peter could see quite plainly, and looking down he discovered the stone lying right by the nest.

"HERE! LET ME LOOK AT YOUR HAND!" MRS. KINGFISHER HURRIED TO THE BOY'S SIDE.

"Let me take it out with me when I go. I shan't mind it a bit, and I am used to carrying things, so that I imagine it will not be half the trouble for me as it would be for Mr. Kingfisher."

The Kingfishers accepted his offer. Peter bent down to pick up the stone and hit his hand against something that pierced it like a thorn. He cried out sharply.

"Ow! What have I run into now?"

"My dear two-legs, what a shame! We should have warned you. It is all our fault. I do hope that you have not hurt yourself badly. Here. Let me look at your hand!" Mrs. Kingfisher hurried to the boy's side and bent anxiously over his wounded member. Peter was very curious.

"But what was it?" he insisted.

"A fishbone, my friend," Mr. Kingfisher answered the question. "And evidently you ran into the sharp point of one."

"A fishbone?" The boy forgot the pain in his wonder. "Why should a fishbone be way in here?"

Again the Kingfishers laughed and the little wife explained.

"Well, you see, husband brings me fresh fish for breakfast, dinner and supper all the time I am working on the tunnel and sitting on the eggs, and I swallow them whole just as he does. Of course bones are indigestible things and so I always spit them out and they make a splendid foundation for the nest, so firm and strong.

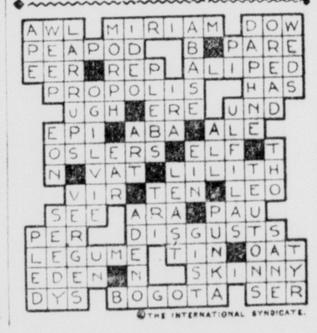

"None of our family ever see anything else. We Kingfishers are used to them and never hurt ourselves upon them. But of course a stranger might. Do please forgive us for not warning you."

FACTS about used car allowances

MOST new car sales now involve the trading-in of a buyer's used car. More and more people are asking: "Why should my used car seem to have several values? . . . . Why should dealers in different makes of cars offer me allowances differing materially? . . . . Does the largest allowance offered mean the best deal for me?"

Here are basic facts:

1 Your used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

2 Your used car has only one fundamental basis of value: what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

3 The largest trade-in allowance which is offered on your used car is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

5 Judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in the allowance offered on your used car.

WHEN you trade-in your present car, remember that first of all you are making a purchase and not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of the new car.

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENE RUBINSTEIN
Noted Beauty Expert

The ratio between height and weight is a most important consideration for beauty, health and style. I do not believe in fanatical reducing—in starvation diets nor physical torture, but I do, most emphatically, believe in self-restraint. Gluttony is one of the seven deadly sins, you know, and it means nothing more or less than overindulgence.

Cut down on your starchy and sweet food—especially if you are one of those hearty three-meal-a-day eaters—a slave to the habits of appetite. Select your food. It is no earthly use to skip a meal and eat 1,000 calories of chocolate creams before a strictly dietary dinner! Diet is an interesting study. Calories are one of the popular subjects of discussion at club, theater and dinner parties—why not learn something about them?

With a careful study of diet—or acting upon your doctor's instructions, you can, within from three to six months, weigh exactly what you want to.

If you are well, healthy, active and within from five to ten pounds of your normal weight, I should suggest nothing more strenuous than the deletion of certain too-fattening foods from your menu. If you are further out of the way than that, I think it is high time to begin self disciplinary methods!

If my weight goes up, and the table of weight is fluctuating, I take sugarless coffee, an extra quart of water a day, a vegetable lunch—no potatoes, beans or peas—and no sweets or inter-meal nibblings. For a condensed table of heights and weights, the following has been compiled by one of our leading authorities:

Height, 5 Feet 5 Inches
Age 21.....Weight 128
Age 31.....Weight 134
Age 41.....Weight 138
Height, 5 Feet 6 Inches
Age 21.....Weight 131
Age 31.....Weight 135
Age 41.....Weight 142
Height, 5 Feet 7 Inches
Age 21.....Weight 135
Age 31.....Weight 138
Age 41.....Weight 146
Height, 5 Feet 8 Inches
Age 21.....Weight 139
Age 31.....Weight 146
Age 41.....Weight 154
Height, 5 Feet 9 Inches
Age 21.....Weight 142
Age 31.....Weight 150
Age 41.....Weight 158

And remember my previous explanation about types. A modern Brunhilde can reach 170 pounds and have not one single ounce of superfluous fat on her splendid body. A small-boned, short-statured woman can be visibly fat at 135.

Use common sense and discretion in gauging your physical condition, and persistence and will power in overcoming the faults. I assure you will not fail to achieve beauty if you go after it consistently.

Gallstones Kill Millions Annually

According to eminent medical authorities, Gallstones exact even a greater toll of lives than modern warfare. It is estimated that every year millions of people die directly or indirectly from Gallstones or kindred ailments. An old German doctor, Dr. Hildebrand, devoted years in an effort to find a Gallstone cure. His efforts were spured on by the fact that he was a sufferer himself. After numerous experiments he at last found a treatment that cured him of his Gallstones. The old doctor then prescribed this treatment to other suffere.s. The amazing results they report is convincing evidence of the merit of his treatment. For a limited time thru the Dr. Hildebrand Laboratories, Dept. 2183, 155 N. Union Ave., Chicago, Ill., sufferers everywhere may obtain a test of this marvelous treatment free. Anyone troubled with Gallstones, Liver or Stomach ailments should send their name at once.—Adv.

Boy Scout News

Troop 1.

Rotary troop 1 will hold its weekly meeting in the Benjamin Franklin junior high Thursday at 7 p. m. All scouts of the troop are urgently requested to be present at this meeting. The scouts will attend the show at the Scottish Rite cathedral on Friday night as guests of the management.

All boys who wish to complete tests in second class, first class or merit badge work in order to be ready for the next board of review will be given an opportunity Thursday night. Plans will be made for several hikes during the week of Easter vacation.

The boys of the troop were commended by Scout Executive J. Lee Calahan for their part in the scout circus; that of constructing in seven minutes a bridge without the use of nails which was three feet high and 12 feet long which held a weight of more than half a ton.

A human signal tower composed of nine boys and topped by Harry Parsons was another feature provided by the Rotary boys. Harry sent a message of two words and members of the troop would be interested in hearing from any boys who read the message.

SCOUT LEADERS' CLUB

This evening, in the Italian M. E. church, corner Phillips and Mill streets, the March meeting of the Scout Leaders' Club of the Lawrence County Boy Scout Council will take place. These meetings are held monthly for the purpose of discussing ways and means of promoting scouting in this county, and it provides an opportunity for the various Scout leaders to exchange ideas and methods as used in the troops.

The meeting this evening will begin at 6:30 o'clock in the form of a spaghetti supper, followed by the business meeting, with Dr. James Charbonnier in charge of the dinner.

J. Lee Calahan, Scout executive, and Ralph F. Davis, president of the Scout Leaders' Club, are expecting a good attendance for this meeting, as all the scoutmasters are very much interested in expanding their troops and benefiting their Scouts.

Many important subjects will be discussed, especially the spring jamboree elimination meet and the western Pennsylvania spring jamboree, which is scheduled to be held at Camp John M. Phillips, our local Boy Scout camp, June 15 and 16. The time is also nearing for the opening of the camp for the summer season, therefore this also will be discussed.

All scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters and commissioners are invited and urged to be present this evening and they can feel assured that they will not regret it.

TO ORGANIZE TROOP

Thursday evening J. Lee Calahan, Scout executive, will attend a meeting at Rose Point for the benefit of organizing a troop and promoting scouting in this section of the county. Mr. Calahan has previously investigated the possibilities of this center and he feels that a splendid nucleus for scouting can be planted here. All the boys of Scout age are very much interested and the parents and church members have offered their hearty support.

Don't worry about the next generation being soft. Look at the state bond issues it will have to pay off.—The Rochester Times-Union.

Years Younger than she used to be!

Her method easy. Says anyone can follow it

Has recipe for youth

SHE JUST got tired of having strangers speak of her husband as "your son". Yet, goodness knows, she felt old enough to be his mother most of the time! And when she looked in the mirror she really couldn't blame people for what they said.

If you were to meet this same woman today, you'd think she was her husband's younger sister, at least. Vivid, radiant, full of "aliveness"—the sort of person who never grows old. With vitality to enjoy all the happy activities our modern life provides.

No face-lifting, no mysterious regime brought about this miracle. Nujol treatment did it. It took about 3 months in her case. But after the very first bottle she began to feel a difference in herself. For Nujol not only prevents any excess of the body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but also aids in their removal. This natural, harmless product got at the real cause of the trouble and removed it.

If you feel draggy and out-of-sorts and years older than you should—why don't you try this Nujol treatment? It certainly would do no harm for Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. And we feel sure it will help you. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey).

The whole 3-months treatment costs about the price of 3 good movies. Wouldn't you give that much to feel like yourself, again?

Be sure you get the genuine.

WHY BRICK PAVEMENTS

—level, smooth, skid-resisting—

Save on taxes

As laid today brick roads are smooth, level, skid-resisting. Selection of brick for famous speedways demonstrates this. And of all highways, those of brick keep taxes lowest.

Thirty years severest punishment does not wear out paving brick. Tire chains do not scar it. Of all wearing surfaces, it is the toughest man has ever made.

Bound with asphalt, and laid on any good base over a sand cushion, brick surface keeps out water, protects the pavement base from traffic shock. And most important, brick surface as laid is slightly flexible, taking up natural expansion and contraction, as the weather changes, without damage.

Thus year after year brick roads cost little to maintain. They keep taxes low, and travel permanently trouble free. Records in many states and county highway departments will verify these facts.

"The A. B. C. of Good Paving," a taxpayer's manual, tells in words and pictures how engineers today build ever-wearing, low cost, brick surfaced roads and streets. Address your request to National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association, 332 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

Old Time History Of Wurtemburg Is Recalled By Visit

A very pleasant surprise was afforded Mrs. David M. Liebendorfer of Dewey avenue when her niece Mrs. Tillie Mai Liebendorfer Park, a daughter of Daniel Liebendorfer who was a brother of David M. Liebendorfer, came to New Castle with her husband, the Rev. Charles Park of Lincoln ,Neb., after visiting relatives of her husband at Baltimore.

Being a Liebendorfer Mrs. Park was very desirous of finding Wurtemburg on Slippery Rock creek where her great grandfather Jacob Liebendorfer and Frederick Rapp, his son-in-law who was one of Napoleon Bonaparte's distinguished soldiers, having been decorated with four medals, settled on a large tract of land about 1814 having come from Wurtemburg in Germany.

Here they built a flour mill and a saw mill. At a later date the two men also built an oil mill where they manufactured flax seed oil which had to be hauled to Pittsburgh in wagons as the canal was not yet in operation. A woolen mill was also placed in the second story of the building where they carded wool, leaving it in rolls about one half inch thick and 18 inches long. The farmers would bring their wool to the mill, have it carded and take it home again where the rolls would be spun into yarn, uniting roll to roll as they spun it so neatly that one could not find where it was united. Often the wheels were kept going from early morning until night.

In those days the girls did not spend as much time on the streets as they do today. The wool was used for stockings and gloves which the boys and sometimes girls were taught to knit. The rest was woven into flannel for shirts, dresses and other clothing on a hand loom.

Large quantities of flax were also raised in those days the seed being used to make linseed oil while the fiber was prepared and spun on the family spinning wheel. Later it would be woven into linen on a hand loom One family would buy a hand loom and do the weaving for the neighborhood, weaving carpet flannel, linen and linsey for a nominal sum a yard. Linsey was made by weaving a woolen woof into a flaxen warp.

But when the party got to Wurtemburg everything was found in the hands of strangers who knew little of the history of the place. The homestead of the Liebendorfers had disappeared a few of the old logs still lay in a pile on a hillside buried in weeds and brush. The flour mill and the saw mill had gone as had also the dam and the oil mill. Only a few timbers remained along with one of the large stones which had been used to grind the flax seed.

Many Attend Play At West Side Play

Japanese Play To Be Repeated By Pupils On Wednesday Evening

A full house crowded into the West Side School Tuesday evening to see the play, "A Japanese Reception" given by the pupils of the school under the direction of teacher of dramatics, Miss Kivine.

The play will be presented this Wednesday evening, March 28, at 8 o'clock. The proceeds from the play are to be applied to the school fund for library and other purposes.

Scenery for the play, which was quite fine was painted by the teacher of art, Miss Bernice Davenport, and her art students. Costumes for the play were quite pleasing. The play represented a scene in Japan, the principal characters being ten Japanese girls. Other children represented children from different parts of the world in their various costumes.

Among the outstanding features of the program was the recitation "Evangelina Johnston" by Arthur Davis; the reading, "Between Two Lovers," by Tony Mitilo; the dance, "The Highland Fling," by Mary Campbell, Deebe Habid, Anna Knat, Geraldine Confer, Nina Strong and Josephine Morcell; the Indian chief played by Reinhold Fabian and the reading "America For Me", by Ethel Bishton with a chorus.

Mrs. Saiter Gives Her Side Of Story Of Domestic Life

Divorce case of Harvey L. Saiter against his wife, Ora E. Saiter, which was taken up yesterday forenoon before Judge Chambers was still on trial in Lawrence county today.

Mrs. Saiter was on the witness stand a greater part of the forenoon. She claimed that her husband has a quick temper and that this led to frequent misunderstandings between them. Money matters entered largely into the testimony, figures being presented to show the various amounts expended by Mr. Saiter while his wife was learning to be a chiropractor and afterwards. The case is still on trial. Refuting an allegation by her husband that he did much of his own washing, Mrs. Saiter said that he only washed heavy garments which had become oily and dirty during his work as a railroad man. She said that it was a frequent occurence for railroad men to do this kind of work. She usually had big washings without these work garments.

C. M. T. C. Quota Is Overreached

Forty more applications than can be filled for admission to the C. M. T. camps this summer have been filed at the office of Captain Melvin L. Craig, it was announced this morning. Lawrence county's quota for the summer is 39 men, but 79 filed applications.

In Beaver county, which is also supervised by Capt. Craig, the quota is 52, and 59 men applied.

Candidates of previous years, when they apply for arvanced training in the Red, White and Blue courses, will be given preference over the basic course applicants, says Capt. Craig.

The Lawrence county contingent will go to camp July 6, and remain until August 4.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank friends and neighbors for kindness and sympathy shown during recent bereavement, also for floral tributes and cars donated.

Seventh Ward News

Find Live Opossum In Church Window

An animal which would have made a fine meal for some person was found in the seventh ward on Tuesday morning. A full grown opossum was found in the casement of one of the front basement windows of the Mahoning Presbyterian church. The animal was discovered by Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor of the church. It was just the same as being in a trap as the opossum couldn't get out. The casement in front of the window is probably a couple of feet deep and is of concrete and the animal could not get a hold to get out.

How the animal came to be in the casement is of course only a surmise. The animal may have been seeking shelter from the storm Monday evening or may have fallen into the opening.

Several men succeeded in getting the animal out of the casement and later he was taken up on the hill and turned loose.

BIBLE CLASS

Oak Street School Girl Writes Poem About Dilks

Children have been watching with great interest the progress that is being made by Dilks. Some boys are actually holding daily marathons before and after school hours. Others are writing poetry about him.

The following poem was written by a 5A girl of Oak street school, who seems to have the natural ability for making rhyme and verse.

"Our Runner Dilks."

From coast to coast he's running,
Earl Lynn Dilks, our famous man.
He started at San Francisco
And will end where New York stands.

Once he started for Erie,
And while ninety miles on the way
The snow and ice, it stopped him.
So he is going to run another day.

He is a U. S. citizen,
Who was known no better than you or I,
But now he's known by everyone,
Everyone far and wide.

He's running across the desert now
Where the hot sun is beating down,
Where instead of rain there is sandstorms,
And where there is hardly ever a sound.

We have great hopes for our runner,
And we're hoping day by day,
That there won't be any snow and rain,
But sunshine all the way.

I'm a school girl in 5A.
Boosting for our runner.
So I will send him love and cheer,
For that is better than money.

EDNA M. RANEY, 5A, aged ten years,

CLUB WOMEN AT WORK

Conducted By The Woman's Club Of New Castle

The most important event in the eyes of club women at large at present is the Biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs to be held at San Antonio, Texas, May 28 to June 7, 1928. Mrs. John B. Hamme of York, Pa., is the Pennsylvania chairman of transportation. She has prepared four different "tours" for the trip. These are listed in the March "Messenger". The women of Texas are sparing no effort to make this convention one to be long remembered. Five clubs in foreign fields have made reservation for the San Antonio convention. The railroads have made low rates and it is hoped Pennsylvania will be well represented. Mrs. Edward Franklin White of Indiana and Mrs. John F. Sippel of Baltimore, Maryland, are candidates for the presidency of the General Federation.

The only "week" during the year to receive government recognition is American Forest Week which comes April 22-28. The National American Forest Week committee is headed by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. Ex-governor Brumbaugh has been appointed by him as chairman of the Pennsylvania Forest Week committee. This committee met in Harrisburg on February 14 to formulate plans. Mrs. R. W. Stadden, chairman of Conservation in the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's clubs, was the only woman on the committee. The program for the week will be announced later.

The Delaware County Federation was fortunate in having at their mid-winter meeting as speaker, Mrs. John M. Phillips, chairman of the American Home department of the state federation. Mrs. Phillips makes her audience ever feel her earnest and joyous spirit. She laid much of the responsibility for divorce at the door of the woman, who, having married, refuses to accept the responsibilities of the marriage tie. Mrs. Phillips advised the discussion of family finance in conference, father, mother and children sharing in the understanding.

Idaho lays claim to having many club houses. The two worst celebrated are The Woman's Club of Bellevue and The Crescent Club of Emmett. The Bellevue club house was the oldest church building in the state. Its congregation consisted mostly of miners. When the mines were exhausted, the miners moved away and the church was abandoned. The women of the town bought the building for $300.00 and remodeled it into an up-to-date club building which is used for community affairs. The Crescent club of Emmett is in the heart of a peach orchard. The women bought a dry farm, taking out the partitions in the farm house to make larger rooms. They managed the place entirely, selling the hay each year to pay the taxes and decrease the debt. Within ten years, the mortgage was burned.

Kansas club women back in 1897 started a traveling library and for two years contributed the books and financed it. The state then passed a law establishing The Kansas Traveling Library commission with an annual appropriation of $1000.00 for its support. The women presented their 3000 volumes as a nucleus of the new institution. The Kansas women are also enthusiastic tree planters around their homes and on the highway. At present they are planting trees and shrubs for a game sanctuary.

The Maryland club women are intensely interested in the principle of merit appointment to public office. Before the last election, the Department of Citizenship sent out questionnaires to each candidate asking their views on the subject. Hundreds of replies were received and placed on file to be available to the club women. Women were urged to register and vote.

The Minnesota federation has as objectives: to work for better equipped homes; to teach and emphasize law observance; to see that every child receives religious instruction in his own church; to secure and enforce a clean milk ordinance in every community; to have a junior department in every club; for every club woman to be a voter at every election; to give active support to the Great Lakes tidewater project; to protest the building of dams along the northern boundary of the state; one tree planted by each club woman; to promote singing in the clubs.

Careless Washing Spoils Children's Hair

Any child can have beautiful hair—healthy and luxuriant. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While children's hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, fine young hair and tender scalps cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why thoughtful mothers everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust and dirt.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.

Trying To Make 1928 Political Issue Out Of Employment Situation

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The unemployment situation threatened today to become a daily topic of congressional debate as Democratic leaders sought to build it into an issue for the 1928 elections.

Democratic spokesmen charged there were 4,000,000 unemployed throughout the country—the worst unemployment wave since the war—and that it was due to a general depression of American industry caused by the Coolidge brand of government economy. They took sharp issue with Secretary of Labor Davis, who reported to the senate that there were but 1,800,000 idle workers.

Administration leaders, led by Senator Smoot (R) of Utah, valiantly defended the administration's policies, rallied behind the Davis report and predicted the "slightly increased trend" of unemployment would disappear before the end of spring. They asserted the Republican party was not responsible for whatever unemployment increase existed as it was caused by the Mississippi and New England floods, the bituminous and anthracite coal disputes and a movement of country folk into the cities.

Senator Wagner (D) of New York and Senator Walsh (D) of Massachusetts led the battle to place the responsibility on the Republican party for the unemployment situation. Wagner characterized the Davis report as "inaccurate" and declared he was convinced that at least 4,000,000 men and women are unemployed at present.

"One sure method of relief," said Senator Walsh, "would be to elect a democratic administration and Democratic congress this fall. I believe there are 4,000,000 unemployed but we can get no relief from an administration so long as that administration refuses to recognize that such unemployment exists. The administration ought to investigate the causes of unemployment and suggest some remedy. It is obvious that, with the depression existing in agriculture and the coal industry, something should be done for the workers in both. The administration has ignored both problems and hopes to ignore the millions of Americans out of work by simply denying the fact of their unemployment."

Senator Smoot, however, declared the floods, cityward movement of farm youths and overproduction in the coal industry were responsible for "a slight increase" in unemployment. He challenged Wagner's statements that the Davis report was inaccurate. Smoot said the New York state labor department's statistics would show that the unemployed rate there was only 5.8 per cent.

"There are a million people unemployed at all times," said Smoot. "This is the average normal unemployment, due to seasonal employment and the regular turnover of 800,000 due to other causes and with the flooded areas of the Mississippi getting back to work, settlement of the coal disputes in prospect and the regular increase of seasonal employment in the spring, we will wipe out this increase of unemployment before the end of spring."

WAY PAVED FOR SETTLEMENT OF STRIKE TANGLE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 28. — The way was paved today for settling the strike of miners in the Scranton, Pa., district coal fields, which includes the turbulent Pittston mines, through a meeting of the International officers of the United Mine Workers and the executive board of district No. 1, of that organization.

In a statement issued at the temporary International headquarters here today, it was stated the problems which have brought about the conflict between the miners and operators can be worked out locally through the machinery provided in the existing agreement under which the miners have been working.

MR. FOGEL SUFEERED FROM CATARRH OF STOMACH A LONG TIME

Declares Life Had Become a Burden Before He Used World's Tonic. Wants Everybody to Know About How He Found Quick Relief

The World's Tonic representative at Smith's drug store in this city every day receives remarkable statements of the value of this wonderful medicine. None could be of more interest than that of Mr. Geo. Fogel, 2105-12th Ave., Beaver Falls, Pa. He says, "I had been a wreck for a long time. I imagined I had every disease a human being could have. My condition really grew serious. I could not perform my duties and was unfit for anything. Life became a real burden. My digestion was poor. The food that I ate would ferment. I frequently had headaches, pains in the back of my head and dizziness. My circulation must have been bad for I nearly always suffered from cold feet and contracted colds very easily. I could not sleep and would get up in the morning so tired and worn out that life became one unbroken period of misery. I had spent much for medicine that had done me no good. Several told me that I had a cancer of the stomach and I was treated for that trouble. I had just about given up hope of ever recovering my health when my druggist told me that he thought I had catarrh of the stomach. I could hardly believe him but at his suggestion took a bottle of World's Tonic. The effect was wonderful. I began to improve at once and now after using three bottles I feel like a different man. I can now do my work and I am healthy and happy as I was twelve years ago when my trouble began. I feel so grateful that I want every one to know how much good this medicine did for me."

The World's Tonic man, in discussing this statement, says:

"You will find many in New Castle who suffer as Mr. Fogel did. They need World's Tonic, the systemic catarrhal treatment. World's Tonic is different from all other medicines as it is made especially to combat catarrh of different forms."

World's Tonic is sold by Paisley's, McKee's Kut Rate Store, Smith's, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. and all other good druggists. (236)

HEMO-LIVER

For Folks Who Need More Vigor

Enriches Blood, Creates Strength and Renews Vital Forces—Often in Eight Days.

Hemo-Liver is full of the vital elements or "Mysterious Substance" extracted by an intricate process from fresh beef liver. It is one of the great discoveries of recent years and by taking a tablespoonful three times a day you'll get more and quicker benefit than by eating pounds of liver.

How a man may look when his blood is thin and weak—and the change that takes place when the blood is rich and red.

Every progressive druggist sells Hemo-Liver in a big 12-ounce bottle that will last eight days with the distinct understanding that if one bottle doesn't greatly improve your health the purchase price will be returned.

"Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 13 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds weakened vital forces and energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished."

Eat more liver and take Hemo-Liver physicians advice. It is not a patent medicine.

Movie Folks On Steamer Tossed In Terrific Gale

(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Cal., March 28.—With 60 motion picture actors and actresses on board, the five-masted schooner George W. Billings returned to port here early today after battling a fierce wind which caught the vessel as she was passing through San Pedro channel on a cruise.

The cinema folk were alarmed at the ferocity of the gale and a radio call for aid was sent to the harbor. A tug boat was immediately dispatched to the help of the schooner and some hours later both the movie boat and the rescue ship returned.

Among the actresses on board were Eva Southern and Shirley Palmer.

The schooner was not seriously damaged.

Explain Mystery Of Girl's Affliction

International News Service.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., March 28.—Investigation here Tuesday lifted the mystery surrounding the strange case of Miss Rose Ferron, 23, who had been said to bear the marks of the wounds of Christ's Passion and Crucifixion.

Investigators were of the belief that Miss Ferron's condition was in no way supernatural.

They revealed that the girl has been suffering for eleven years with what is known to medical men as spinal marrow, accompanied by blotches on the skin.

The skin blotches, appearing as they frequently have on the hands, feet and head, have given the impression to many that the girl supernaturally bore the wounds of the Saviour. These blotches have been intensified in the Lenten season by the meditation and absorption of the stricken girl's mind upon the Passion and sufferings of Christ, it was stated by those in a position to know.

The investigation disclosed that the girl had not partaken of substantial food in three years. Her only food has been liquid and much of that has been only water with some stimulant added.

Many persons, some from as far away as Canada, have come to Woonsocket, to pray with the girl, who is strapped to her bed.

IN BEHALF OF DILKS.

Dear Sir:—

Through your paper, may I say something that will encourage the citizens of our city to give freely in support of Mr. Dilks, who is so ably putting our city on the map in this coast to coast race.

I became interested in this race several weeks before it was to start. We talked of how we might make the expense light by going together, and of the race from many angles. But he was determined to go under any circumstances. The fact is that Mr. Dilks made a wonderful demonstration of long distance running in his trip from this city to Erie, and the stamina that took him to the starting place all alone, with little if any backing certainly should convince us that he is qualified to continue in the race in a prominent position all the way through.

It will take many pairs of substantial running shoes. The three months time will require the best of food and freedom of financial worry pertaining to domestic relations at home, and all that may be done in his behalf will better fit him to concentrate his energy toward the business of making this a success.

Topic for the Week
"RELIGION AND POWER"
Wednesday
"Prayer the Way to Power"

SCRIPTURE: Memory Verse: "Knock and it shall be opened unto you" (Matthew 7:7).

Read: Matthew 7:7-11.

MEDITATION: Prayer has been called the "open gate." It admits us unto the house and store-house of God. It is the door through which God's power enters our lives. If we think of man as a

"Swinging, swinging wicket set
"Between
"The unseen and the seen."

then our spiritual task is to open the wicket. God imparts His energies to those who are open to receive them and prepared to use them. Electricity is as old as lightning and thunder, but it is only as instruments are fashioned that are sensitive to this energy that it is being revealed and used to accomplish miraculous things. The world is full of infinite spiritual energies waiting for the gates of life to open to them. Prayer is one of these gates.

PRAYER: Spirit of truth and love, open wide the windows of our minds and fill us full of light; open wide the door of our hearts that we may receive Thee and be filled with Thy waiting energies. Then, in our weakness, we shall be made strong. Amen.

DENY LINDBERGH PLANS TO RETIRE FROM PUBLIC LIFE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Governmental officials who conferred here Tuesday with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh emphatically denied reports that he plans to return to private life in the near future.

On the other hand, it was intimated at the state department, after Lindbergh had been in conference for two hours with Under-Secretary Olds, that another flight project of major importance had been discussed. Neither Olds nor Lindbergh would comment after the conference.

The project apparently is still in the nebulous stage.

Definite announcement, should the undertaking be decided upon, may come from the headquarters of the Guggenheim Fund for the promotion of aviation in New York it was intimated.

OFFICER FINDS PROMPT RELIEF FROM SUFFERING

Ellwood City Policeman, Living Here, Says Ten Herbs Benefited Whole System

"Although I had suffered with stomach trouble for five years, and tried all kinds of medicines, nothing gave me any relief, until I used Ten Herbs, which promptly relieved my suffering," was the statement of Mr.

MR. JAMES A. HAYS

James A. Hays, well-known Ellwood City policeman, living at 472 Neshannock Avenue, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine.

"Before taking Ten Herbs, I was afraid to eat, as everything I ate seemed to sour on my stomach and cause awful distress," Mr. Hayes continued. "I think my stomach and bowel trouble was caused by eating meals at irregular hours for several years. The more I tried to get relief, the worse my condition became.

"Having read a great deal about Ten Herbs, I decided to try your medicine. While taking the first bottle, the pains in my stomach were relieved. My liver became more active and my bowels more regular. Gas left my stomach, and kidneys were helped. After taking the third bottle, my whole system seemed to be benefited, and I could eat almost anything without having any distress afterwards. I advise all who are suffering as I did to try Ten Herbs, as I believe they will get the same good results that I did."

Such statements as these, and those of many men and women in this section, have wide influence, as they come from persons of standing and integrity, who have given the new herbal compound, Ten Herbs, a fair trial and have been greatly benefited thereby. Every day scores of local citizens attest to the remarkable efficacy of this medicine in relieving disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. Ten Herbs also benefits the kidneys, and gives the whole system a thorough cleansing.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

Two Children Have Close Call When Fire Burns Home

BUTLER, Pa., March 28.—Two children of five and three years, sons of John Stoley of Lyndora, narrowly escaped death at noon yesterday when their home was destroyed by fire. When the tots discovered the fire they ran from the building and gave the alarm to neighbors.

The firemen of Butler township ran a hose into Connoquenessing creek, about 150 feet away, but the fire had gained such headway that the building could not be saved. Neighbors saved a few pieces of furniture from the rooms on the first floor, but were forced back by the heat.

The property is valued at about $4,000, with small insurance. The father was at work and the mother had taken another child and gone to consult a doctor, leaving the two children alone.

Marvelous Escape Of Auto Driver As Car Turns Twice

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., March 28. — Only a miracle saved John Rinaldi, Vandergrift merchant, from death last night when his auto turned over twice and lit upside down on the Vandergrift-Apollo road, near here. Witnesses of the accident ran to the car, expecting to find Rinaldi dead, but from under the wreckage of his practically demolished auto came his voice:

"Open that door and let me out of here."

Although the car was a total wreck, Rinaldi was not even scratched, and, after crawling out of the wreckage, engaged in a spirited argument with Aakie Hill, Apollo man, as to whose fault it was. The accident occurred when Rinaldi's auto smashed into Hill's car at a high rate of speed, sheered off, turned over twice and remained upside down, with Rinaldi inside.

Miner Arrested In Auto Blast

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., March 28.

Arrested here on a charge of setting off a bomb under an automobile at Louisville, a suburb of Canton, O., Theodore Wharton, 38, was returned to Canton late Tuesday.

Wharton, a Moundsville coal miner, was traced here after he was alleged to have exploded dynamite which wrecked an automobile owned by W. G. MEMBER QUALITY BAKERS OF AMERICA By Invitation Only
This Mark Stands for Bread Goodness

The real truth of the matter is, good folks, and we want you to know it and believe it, that we put so much Quality in our product that we make less net profit on a loaf of our bread than the average business man would consider as a safe margin.

But we are not the average business man—a claim that we are justified in making, and for this reason:

We as individuals do not stand alone in our production efforts.

We have the earnest co-operation of 89 other wholesale bakers in our production efforts; so we are actually a composite of 90 men (90 men rolled in one, if you please).

This makes it possible for us to put so much quality in our product that the public is able to buy it and get it regularly, and with positive assurance that it is getting full value for its money.

At a recent conference of the Production Managers of Quality Bakers of America, held in New York City, under the auspices of our Central Service Bureau which maintains headquarters at 469 Fifth Avenue, the most noted "Quality" avenue in the world, there was displayed, almost a truckload of samples of the products of members so that there might be "a pick-to-pieces" party—and believe us they did a lot of "picking".

These production managers, full of the spirit of the organization, and knowing that they are always at liberty to speak their minds freely, had a spirited discussion, each one setting forth the merit of his particular product.

This is always a good way to get results from a discussion. There are no "yes, yes" men among the Production Managers. They stand for what they believe is right, so among so many stand-patters every one of them gets an idea how he can improve upon his idea of what is right. The open-minded man may be determined, but he is not mulish.

We wish you, reader, could have overheard this discussion. Then you would appreciate how a non-competitive but highly co-operative body of men can positively but good-naturedly thrash things out man-fashion and then go forth with a better knowledge of how to produce the finest quality of bread.

You can't side-step men of the grit and skill of the Production Managers of the Quality Bakers of America. They are your friends.

A young woman, a member of the staff of the Central Service Bureau, remarked that the bread made by any member of the Quality Bakers of America was too good to pick to pieces and thus waste it.

She grabbed up a couple of loaves, carrying them to her home, saying that her mother had always told her "Those who waste bread will want."

Which reminds us to remark "Don't waste any of our Twin Bread; it is too good."

Bulldog Faithful To End, Perishes With Horse "Pal"

BREMEN, O., March 28.—Faithful to the horse at whose heels he ran for years, a Boston bulldog refused to leave a burning barn in which his "pal" was trapped. Both fell victims of the fire, which caused $10,000 damage. The dog ran from the barn, apparently to arouse rescuers, then returned and attempted to tear away the ropes that tied the animal. The bulldog was found dead beside the horse.

Everett Moore has a Plymouth pullet that lays an egg 8 1-2 by 10 inches. Harry Boozel comes in second, as he has a hen that lays a 6½ by 9 inch egg, and Mrs. Jesse Hamilton came in third, for she has a hen that insists on laying eggs a trifle larger than a robin's egg. All are well developed hens and in fine condition.

Wilson told a county circuit jury he had been forced, at the point of a pistol, to take part in the daylight holdup and that he did not share in the loot. The other robbers have not been caught.

SUFFERING OF 2 YEARS ENDED BY THE NEW KONJOLA

This Man States He Is Free Of Stomach, Liver And Kidney Trouble.

MR. JOHN W. BROWN
Seavy Photo

The extent to which this new Konjola medicine is helping the people of New Castle has become the talk of the drug and medical trades of this section. Throngs are calling daily to see the Konjola Man at Love and Megown's Drug Store, 204 East Washington St., this city, and hear his personal explanation of this surprising compound. At the same time, a stream of voluntary indorsements and reports are received from people of this vicinity, describing the remarkable benefits they have derived from the use of this medicine.

"Konjola is first of all a new, advanced remedy," explained The Konjola Man yesterday. "It is a liquid containing medicinal extracts from twenty-two plants of nature. This compound works with the sufferer's own food, restoring the stomach, liver, kidneys and nerves to better action. It removes the poisons which cause most of the chronic aches and pains, and therefore, the people who take Konjola nearly always report new feelings of health over their body in general.

"One of the latest residents to make a public indorsement of Konjola is Mr. John W. Brown, 1113½ South Mill St., this city.

"I strongly indorse such a medicine," said Mr. Brown. "It has brought new health over my entire system and gave me wonderful relief from kidney trouble and a general rundown condition.

"I was a sufferer for two years and during this time, I had taken every kind of medicine I heard of but got almost no relief. Most of my trouble was due to sluggish disordered kidneys. My back was full of pain and I was subject to constant night rising. The bad condition of my liver affected my whole body. My eyes were weak and the whites were very yellowish. All during the day I had splitting headaches and awful dizzy spells when I would have to hold onto something to keep from falling. With all these health troubles I thought my case almost hopeless.

"About three weeks ago I heard about Konjola and got some of this medicine. Before the first bottle was gone I began to feel better. My kidneys got stronger, and I did not have to get up during the night. All the pains in my back disappeared and I would hardly realize I ever had kidney trouble. Konjola cleansed and regulated my liver. My eyes cleared up and the headaches and backaches are gone. I can sleep perfectly through the whole night and feel refreshed in the mornings.

"Konjola certainly is a wonderful medicine, and once more I want to say that I am glad to indorse it."

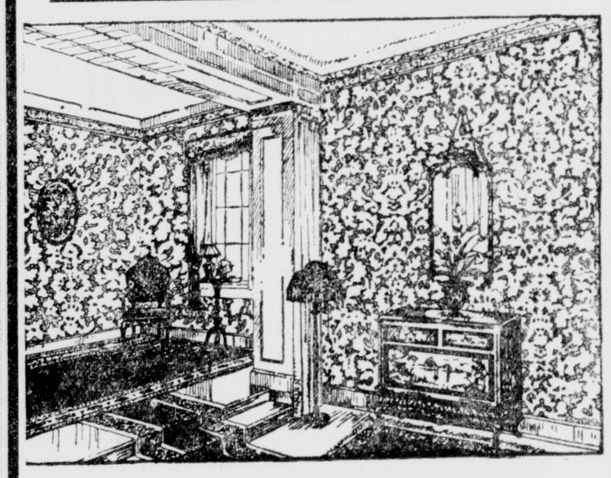

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Parents And Teachers Hear Interesting Lecture Tuesday

To Decide Ultimate Fate Of Continuation Of Kindergarten At Next Meeting

Over One Hundred Views Of Yellowstone National Park Shown At Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, March 28.—Rev. L. J. Baker of the Trinity Lutheran church was the speaker at the monthly meeting of the Parent and Teachers association which took place in the Lincoln school study hall Tuesday evening.

The membership in the association was well represented, and an interesting lecture, accompanied by colored slides depicting the beauties of Yellowstone National Park, was enjoyed.

During a brief business session, the subject of maintaining the Kindergarten was touched on, and the members decided to dispose of this project definitely at the next meeting. The Kindergarten was started under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers association two years ago, and has been dying a lingering death for the past six months. Last year the association hoped to annex the kindergarten to the local schools, making the tuition come within the school taxes, but the Board of Education regretfully turned down the project on account of lack of finances.

The small tuition charged, seems too much for local parents to pay, in addition to the school taxes, and so, the project, although a most worthy one, seems doomed to an untimely demise.

CAVELLI AND CRISP BATTLE TO DRAW

Bantams Stage Exciting Bout

Cavelli Opens Crisp's Eye And Harry Scores Knockdown In Sixth

KAPLAN WINS AWARD FROM ROY MINTEER

With both boys out in the middle of the ring, swinging padded fists with right good will, and each trying for that elusive point of the anatomy known as "the button," the bell ended six rounds of real milling Tuesday evening between Carl Cavelli of Canton, O., and Harry Crisp of St. Petersburg, Florida. The judges called the match a draw, and the fans called it one of the best bouts seen in Old Armory since the Jolly fights began.

Now while the last round was fast and furious in this Crisp-Cavelli thing, it was but a continuation of the first second and so on. From the moment they opened hostilities until Tom McMahon rang the dinger on them, the two boys were in there to prove to the fans that they were there. And they were, both of them. From where you sat you may have disagreed with the judge, or you may have come to the same conclusion as they. Whether you did or not makes little difference, the fact stands out that it was a splendid tilt.

Crisp Longer Reach

Crisp, a former Southern bantam champion weighed 120½ pounds and stood half a head taller than Cavelli who weighed 118. He also had a longer reach on Cavelli with the result that Carl had to get a running start back of his punches. But the running start put some weight back of his punches, and in the fourth round he had Crisp's face looking like a quarter's worth of beef, due to an old cut opened above the eye. In the sixth Crisp floored Cavelli who arose without a count.

The boys wasted little time in getting to it. The first round was even with each of them on the receiving end of some steaming wallops. There was little stalling, little clinching, and every punch started was started with the fervent hope back of it that this was the one. Both of them proved that they could take it, as well as give it and the fans were clamoring for a return match after it was over.

Cavelli is a former New Castle boy and a stocky little fighter. He apparently is impervious to blows for several times he waded in willing to take a couple for the privilege of landing one. And how he loves to mix it!

Minteer Loses To Kaplan

In the semi-final, Roy Minteer of New Castle and Jimmy Kaplan of Youngstown tried conclusions again for six rounds, and this time Kaplan won the decision. Neither of the boys is much bigger than a good sized rumor but in the ring they resemble junior streaks of lightning. They had had one previous battle which Minteer won and Tuesday evening Kaplan turned the tables on Roy.

The first two bouts ended in knockouts. Oscar Gardner of New Castle laid away Bill Gray of New Castle in the third round of their debate and that line goes just as is. Oscar has the symmetry and curves of a brick garage and just won't let an opponent alone while he's in the ring.

Gray had had little experience and Oscar started his work early. Wading in slowly and flat footedly he began a tatoo of punches on Gray's stomach and jaw that brought him down in the third for the long count.

In the curtain raiser two novices, Jimmy Mills and Dutch Drake didn't take long with their exhibition. Both of them swung as wildly as a rookie in the big leagues and in the second round one of Mills' wind mill swings found a resting place on Drake's jaw and Dutch lost interest. A moment later a straight right hander caught him in the dining room. He was knocked out and the seconds began preparations for the next fight.

Eddie Fritz and George Chip were the third men in the ring. Henry Goldberg and Tommy Jones did the judging with Tom McMahon handling the gong.

As for the crowd, it was nothing to cause Promoter Bill Jolly any uneasiness as to where he would put the receipts. It was promoted by Bill Jolly the four-square engineer of the Seventh Ward who has not staged a poor match since he broke into the game months ago.

Joe Brannigan Of New York At Fight

Joe Brannigan, one of the notables in the fight game of New York, visited the Jolly Fistis circus at the Old Armory last night. A few days ago fans will remember that a photograph of Joe in company with Johnny Risko appeared in The News. The photograph showed them both making flapjacks.

Joe visited his cousin Patsy in Pittsburgh and met Jimmie Dunn and in his journey came to New Castle to visit Jimmie Dime and the rest of the pugilistic colony.

Braves And Reds Talk Over Trade

Cincinnati Would Trade Pipp To Boston For Burrus And Guatreau

CINCINNATI NEEDS INFIELD STRENGTH

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, March 28. — Having got what they thought they wanted in Lester Bell and what they didn't have any reason to expect in Rogers Hornsby, the Boston Braves apparently still are of a mind to bicker and barter a bit. The writer is informed today that the Braves are trying to swing some kind of a trade for Wally Pipp, first baseman of the Cincinnati Reds.

If the deal is made—and nobody seems to know how far they have gone with it— the Braves would find themselves in possession of an infield for the first time in years. If it isn't made, the Reds still will have two first basemen in Pipp and George Kelly and the Braves virtually none at all—unless Dick Burrus comes back to the pace he knew in 1925. Burrus' position is the outstanding weakness in the Boston club at the moment.

Frankly, it is a bit difficult to see Cincinnati's position in the proposed trade. The Reds don't need Pipp and probably would be glad to do business for him. But the trouble is that the Braves have exactly what the Reds don't particularly need.

According to Jack Hendricks' story, he is satisfied with his pitching, catching, outfielding and at least two positions in his infield. He doubtedly would welcome a first class man who could play on the left side of his infield. If the Braves have a man like this, they need him themselves.

Walter Guatreau might answer the purpose and maybe they would be willing to send Burrus along, too, provided Hendricks decided he wanted a man like that around to fill in for Kelly while the latter was indulging his flair for versatility. But Hendricks is a hard boiled trader and might be expected to look down the barrel at anything that didn't give him more than fifty per cent the better of it. According to his probable way of figuring, Guatreau isn't good enough for the Boston infield and, therefore, couldn't be good enough to help Cincinnati.

BASEBALL TWO-GUN MEN

Detroit Tigers Have Pair Of 'Em In Hargrave And Neun

By JACK SORDS

Ambidexterity, says the learned Dr. Webster, is the happy faculty of being able to perform equally well with either hand.

An ambidexterous ball player (this tribe is few in number) is supposed to have an advantage over his playmates in that he can sock the apple from either side of the plate.

If this be true then the Detroit Tigers are sitting pretty, for they have two chaps drawing sustenance and shelter from them who are possessed of the rare double-barrelled hands.

William McKinley Hargrave, catcher and brother of the well-known Eugene "Bubbles" Hargrave, is one of them. The other is Johnny Neun, the speedy first sacker.

Hargrave has yet to win his spurs in the big time. The Tigers took him on only for trial, though he appears to have all the earmarks of a major league receiver.

With Toronto last year young Hargrave gave such an exhibition of skill that the delirious Canadians labeled him the finest backstop in the minors.

Hargrave is just five feet and eight and one-half inches in height, but he weighs 180 pounds. Like his brother, who draws pay from the Cincinnati Reds, he is red-headed.

Don't get the idea that our friend Hargrave is a stranger to big league competition. He got an earlier try with the St. Louis Browns and before that he had a go with the Washington Senators.

Hargrave's ability to bat either right or left-handed enabled Bill McK. Hargrave to end last season with a .302 average, despite the fact that he suffered a bad slump last season.

Johnny Neun's most recent bid for fame was his stunt in pulling an unassisted triple play last season. Johnny also whaled the pill for a .323 average. It was the best he has ever done for the Tigers.

Johnny got his start with Birmingham in 1923. He was somewhat of a sensation with the Coal Barons, tapping out a .320 average and stealing 58 bases. In 1924 he went to St. Paul, stole 55 bases and hit .353.

That was enough. The big leagues were hot on his trail. He was gobbled up by the Tigers but immediately slowed down, batting only .266 and stealing but two bases.

Last year Neun became more like his old self, stealing 22 bags and hammering the ball hard enough to slip into the charmed circle. His major league batting average is now .303 for the three years spent in the big time.

Latrobe Checks Damage Of Fire

Large Part Of Business Section Of Latrobe In Ruins Today

ESTIMATE LOSSES CLOSE TO $150,000

(International News Service)

LATROBE, Pa., March 28. — With a large part of its business section a mass of ruins and its losses well over $150,000, Latrobe today checked up its losses in the blaze which for five hours spread terror through the town and attempted to "come back."

While much of the stock of the Fred Lowenstein department store was saved a large part of it was found to have been badly damaged by smoke and water. The interior of this building as well as the Latrobe Dairy Company, on the second floor of which the blaze originated, was almost totally destroyed.

Among the tenants of the Lowenstein block who have lost all are: The Amity Club, Latrobe Section, Council of Jewish Women, Photographic studio of R. L. Durham and the offices of Dr. J. Hazz, Dr. J. H. Anderson, Dr. W. J. Cooke, and Tax Collector Frank Irwin.

The loss to the W. C. Paxton garage was expected to reach $25,000 when a final checkup was completed. Only four of the 50 cars stored in the building were saved in addition to the damage to the structure.

Embers swept along by the 90 mile gale which fanned the flames, were found to have been carried half a mile to the home of Robert Osborne, resulting in a $5000 loss. Many other business houses and private residences are heavy sufferers.

Low water pressure was found to have handicapped the fire fighters, as well as the cold which caused ice to form on equipment and prevented part of it from being used.

Boxing Commission Nettled By Tunney

Want Champion To Act On Challenges Hurled By Sharkey, Heeney, Risko

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 28.—The New York Boxing Commission Tuesday issued another ultimatum to Gene Tunney, heavyweight boxing champion, threatening him "with some action" if he does not reply by next Tuesday to the challenges on file by Jack Sharkey, Johnny Risko and Tommy Heeney.

The commission said that Tunney must either accept or decline these challenges by Tuesday. In the event that the three challenges are declined by Tunney, said the commission, then the champion must pass upon others listed which include Phil Scott, British battler, George Godfrey, negro, Paulino, the Basque, and Jack Delaney, the French Canadian.

The possible penalty faced by Tunney for ignoring the demand of the commission is a place on the ineligibility list in New York state. As Tunney's boxing license has already expired here, the severity of the potential punishment is questionable.

The "Rajah's" Playmates — By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service.

Mr. "Rajah" Hornsby the big glove and bat man from Winters, Texas, will not be in bad company among the lowly Braves even though the musketeers to right and to left of him on the diamond won't quite measure up to the standard of Terry, Jackson and Lindstrom, whom he left so abruptly last winter. They have infielders in Boston and good ones too. Burrus at first is no world beater but no busher either.

Eddie Farrell at short has played next to Hornsby before and likes it. The young collegian dentist played some sensational baseball last summer and more than filled the cavity caused by Jackson's temporary absence. Who would have dared to predict then that within a year both Hornsby and Farrell would be holding down the important keystone positions for the Braves?

At short-stop Manager Slattery can use Jimmy Cooney, too, brother of Pitcher Johnny and at third he has Eddie Moore, both of whom can also play second base as can Gautreau and Farrell. Last season Moore worked at second in 39 games, Gautreau in 57 and Farrell in 40; Moore at third in 52 and High in 89. Slattery may decide to use Moore permanently in the outfield. That was his decision in the opening game with the Yanks which the Braves won in the rain at St. Petersburg (or is it Leningrad?) on March 12.

But, anyway whoever covers short and and third, Hornsby the $40,600 a year man from Texas will not be mingling with is social inequalities and if anything happens to him four bold Braves will be ready and willing to jump into his position until he recovers.

Feg Murray Says.

Benny Paschal of the New York Yankees is the only one of his kind. He is a .300 hitter and yet is unable to hold down a regular berth on the club.

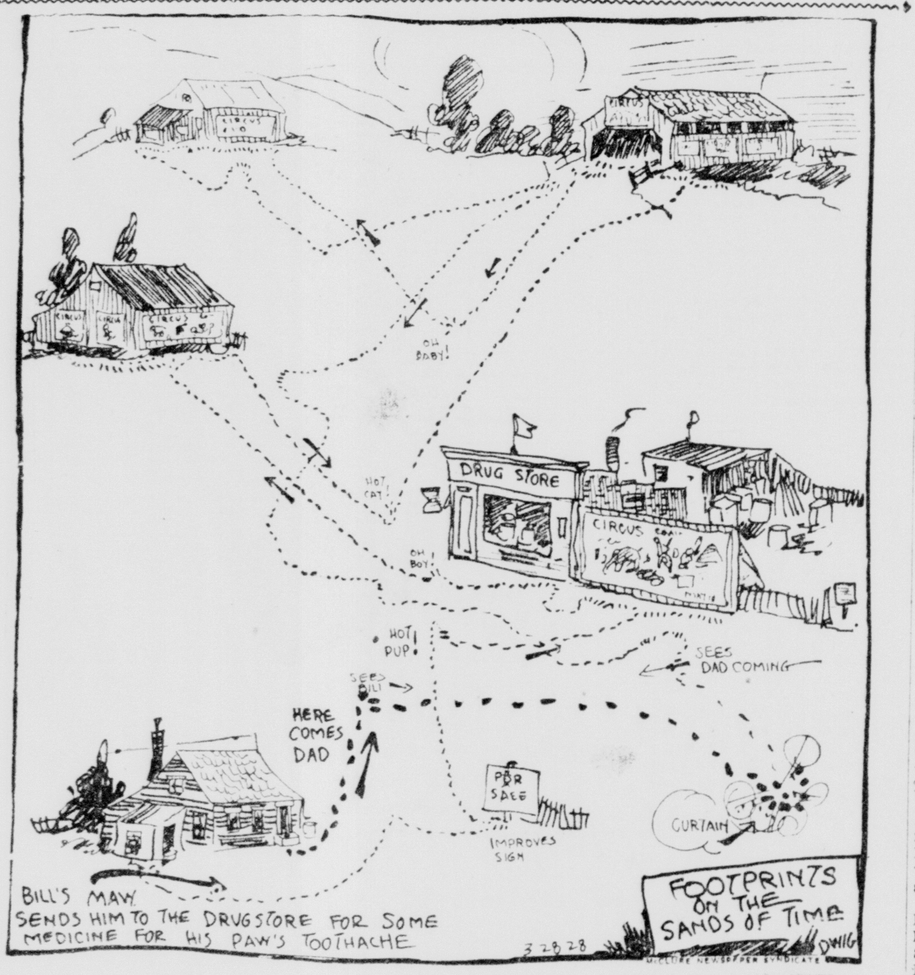

That couldn't happen on many other clubs, but it's not so strange when you consider the terrific hitting power of the regulars on the New York squad.

Paschal's major league batting average since he joined the Yanks has been .322. His high spot was in 1925 when he smacked the horsehide for a .360 decision.

It's the ambition of a lot of ball players to play with the Yanks. But maybe Benny can't see it that way. Because with his stick work he'd be the big star of more than one major club.

Purse Snatcher Is Hunted By Police

(International News Service)

The negroes were said to have approached Miss Young from the rear while she was walking alone and she was able to give police only a meagre description.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 28.—Stocks of American oil companies with important Mexican properties sold at higher prices at the opening today as the result of the ending of an eleven-year dispute on oil lands and oil royalties between the Mexican government and foreign land owner.

Pan American rose about 3 points, Marland was aggressively bought around 37 and the spectacular up-rush of Sinclair Oil continued, with unusually heavy trading.

Yesterday's early break in the big speculative leaders had a sobering influence all over the country and the frantic rush in buy at any price was strikingly absent in the first hour.

Profit taking in General Motors and Radio accounted for a 2-point decline in the former and a 4-point drop in Radio. United States Steel sold about a point lower, but new advances were scored in the can stocks. Continental Can rising about 6 points to 105½. Demand for Sinclair Oil was generally attributed to Eastern Standard Oil interests, who will shortly acquire control of the company and amalgamate the property with one or more well known oil producers.

Some improvement in general business was reported by the Federal Reserve board, which called attention to the $200,000,000 expansion in commercial loans since the first of the year.

Applications For Army Air Service Swamp Officials

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 28.—America has become so thoroughly air-minded during the last year that the army crys out for help.

An announcement a month ago that a new class of 110 flying cadets would be admitted to air corps schools by examination April 10 has thus far produced 1,041 applications from eligible youths and almost as many more from persons manifestly unqualified. Last year's call produced less than 300 applications.

Training corps officers estimate that 1,500 applications will be received before examination date.

Applications have come from every state in the union and from Panama, Hawaii, Alaska and the Philippines. California leads all other states in the number of aspiring Lindberghs.

V. O. Potter Erects New Business Block At Harrison And E. Washington

With the completion of the new Potter building, at the corner of Harrison and East Washington streets, Potter's Market has been removed from its former location on the west side of East Washington street and is now in the new location.

The Potter building is one of the finest business blocks on the East Side. Two stories in height, it is constructed of dark red brick, the lower floor, 30x80, being devoted to the market, and the upper floor to apartment space.

V. O. Potter, the owner of the building, is one of the younger business men of the East Side. Starting in a small way five years ago, he has progressed rapidly and his new building just opened is the result.

The construction of the building was by the Weingartner Realty Company. Because of the weather sidewalks have not yet been laid into the market, but this will be done in the immediate future. The space between the street walk and the store will be landscaped.

Postpone Flight Of New Airplane

Will Make Runways On Harlansburg Road Airport; Fly In Ten Days

Because of the condition of the flying field, the first flight of the "Pride of New Castle" airplane, owned by Jack Crowl, has been postponed until runways can be constructed, it was announced this morning by Mr. Crowl.

The runways, which will be built on the Harlansburg road field, will be started this afternoon and will also be used when Clarence Chamberlin, New York-to-Germany flier, comes to New Castle in April. Frank Hoyt will be in charge of the construction.

When the runways have been completed Ed. Shultz, Mr. Crowl's pilot, expects to test the plane for a few days before attempting a passenger carrying flight. All will be in readiness in about 10 days, it is announced.

Alvin Hess, 16, Confesses On Witness Stand To Murder Charge

ATTORNEYS ASK JURY ACQUIT ON INSANITY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 28.—With the defendant pleading insanity following a fractured skull, the case of Alvin Hess, 16, charged with the murder of an unidentified man, was to go to the jury today.

Hess took the stand after his attorney had opened the insanity defense for him and confessed everything he was charged.

He told of the unknown man being struck on the head with a heavy club and his skull crushed with a stone on the Monongahela river bank last September. He calmly related how he and Robert Stevens, 14, who is also charged with the crime, took $3.75 from the pockets of the dying man, of which Hess kept $3 and gave the remainder to the younger boy.

Hess "talked foolish" neighbors testified, played with baby dolls and insisted on playing with younger boys rather than those of his own age. D

NEW CASTLE DRY GOODS CO.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Its the same restaurant at midnight as it is at noon, that is in appearance but there's a lot of difference. The same tables, the same kind of food, the same walls, but as different at midnight as the difference in the skies at the same time.

At noon men and women rush in, order a bite in a hurry, pay their check and rush out. Not much sociability, not much idle talk, just the business of getting food.

But midnight.

Sometimes it seems that the food is merely an excuse for little conferences that last for hours. Theatre patrons after the show actors, musicians men-about-town, young sprigs and their girls and over it all a low hum of conversation with now and then laughter.

Back in the corner are several chaps who have a scheme for making a lot of money. This morning's sun will dissipate the scheme as it does the dew on the hillside but under the electric lights with halos of tobacco smoke curling about their heads and the smell of good coffee in their nostrils the scheme seems a sure fire winner.

An interesting study. The same restaurant, the same people, the same kind of food, but so different.

The actors make an interesting group as they come in after a show. It may be midnight for some folks but it's dinner time for them. No havy meals before a show, just a snack, but after the last curtain is down the grease paint off and the house is dark comes dinner time.

The country may be engrossed in a crisis, the president may have just issued a proclamation of world wide import, but do they talk about it? You know they don't.

That gag line of the low comedians, the song of the star, the steps of that third dance. How they knocked them dead n Ft. Wayne and laid them in the aisles in Chicago, what Gus Sun said about the act or what Equity intends to do. Shop, shop, shop all the time. An actor is an actor 24 hours a day. He talks stage, eats it, sleeps it and probably comes to the end of the road as he does to the end of the last act.

My friend Slim Clark of Mahoningtown has a suggestion. Like all the rest of us Slim is following the run of Lin Dilks and Slim is interested in the cards in some windows. He suggests that busines houses hang a sign in the window showing moral support for Dilks.

Something like the one in George Chip's pool room window perhaps, "Come on Dilks New Castle is with you all the distance." A friendly idea at that but Garf Davis also has an idea. Garf is raising money to send Dilks and you can't think of any thing much more practical than that.

Twenty Five Years Ago Today.

Farmers out around Slippery Rock were excited over the prospects of new limestone quarries being opened out there if the new railroad went through. Leases were being taken on farms.

Negotiations were still under way for the entrance of the Wabash railroad into New Castle.

Wonder who started this smock idea for the offices in New Castle? The idea has caught on in the business office of the News and no two are alike. Cerise and blue and green or what have you.

FIRE DESTROYS WEST LINCOLN AVENUE HOME

Mother And Sons Escape From Burning Home Early This Morning

A fire believed to have been caused by a defective chimney in the cottage home of Mrs. H. E. McElhaney, 423 West Lincoln avenue and near the Erie railroad tracks, early this morning gutted the home and completely destroyed its contents.

Mrs. McElhaney was awakened by a choking sensation occasioned by the smoke and fumes of burning wood and just had time to awaken her sons, put on some slippers and a bathrobe, while the sons put on part of their clothing, and escaped from the burning building before it was a mass of flames and all possible exits were shut off.

The loss sustained, according to the fire authorities, is $1,500 on the building and $1,000 on the contents and is partially covered by insurance.

According to Mrs. McElhaney, when she was awakened, the fire appeared to be in the ceiling over her bedroom. It evidently had a good start before she was awakened and she and her sons were no sooner out of the place than the entire interior was a mass of flames, which were bursting forth from the windows.

The firemen were called by an alarm from box 18 at 12:55 a. m. and were on the job until 4 a. m. Assistant Chief Stockman, the central department companies and Park avenue department answered the alarm. More than 750 feet of hose were required to fight the flames.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT

S. L. Evans of Struthers, O., reported to the police last night that he was driving south on Croton avenue hill, just above the Pennsylvania railroad crossing, when a car of Mr. Dicks of East Brook, going north, sideswiped and damaged his machine. The Dicks car driver did not stop and determine the damage done, he reported.
